

REBELS MOVING ON MADRID

LANDON'S NOTIFICATION OCCURS THURSDAY

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
CHICAGO, July 22.—Is it possible that the New Deal and Professor Tuqwell have learned something from experience?
Apparently profiting by bad results of haphazard shifting of farm populations from areas affected by the 1934 drought, the Resettlement Administration has set up a bureau of information through which farmers may ascertain conditions prevailing in places to which they plan to migrate.

The only hint of dictation is in the statement that loans will not be made to farmers who ignore advice of the bureau. That seems reasonable, provided the bureau is administered by people with first-hand knowledge of conditions, and on a non-partisan basis, without suggestion of political pressure or influence.
There is universal desire to relieve suffering caused by the present drought crisis, and, so far as is humanly possible, to safeguard against its recurrence. Soil conservation is approved by everyone. But it cannot be too strongly emphasized that such work must not be used as a cloak for crop curtailment, coercion and regimentation.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Why a weasel would be on North Mercer street early this morning is a question, but there it was, the center of excitement for a few minutes when a dozen men tried to capture it. One man started chasing it with a wrench, another tried to beat it running and a lot more acted as beaters to drive it out into the open. The weasel used the automobiles as a retreat and running up the street under the cars escaped.

Music lovers in large numbers will be attracted to Cascade Park tonight when a free concert will be presented by the WPA band-orchestra. This organization has been playing at many points in the district, and has been well received.

Every business has interesting charts and instruments which fascinate the layman whose knowledge of that business is limited. And the New Castle Water Company, which supplies water to all of New Castle, is no exception. In its North Mill St. office is a delicate instrument which records water consumption every day in the year—and which works overtime in hot weather! It's easy to see, from the chart, that garden hoses are being used more these days because the consumption level is higher. During the oppressive heat the volume consumed by the hoses was considerable and often kept up from 6 in the evening until midnight.

It is vacation time now at the Young Men's Christian Association in town, although out at its summer camp, Camp Fred L. Rentz, it's a different story. A Hobby school has

Topeka Ready For Notification Of Gov. Landon

Huge Parade And Pageant To Feature Program Thursday Afternoon

ACCEPTANCE SPEECH DURING EVENING

Thousands Of Visitors Are Flocking To Kansas Capital For Event

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kas., July 22.—This typical prairie capital of a typical prairie state, gaily bedecked in festive array, is prepared to play host tomorrow to a crowd of 50,000 visitors at official ceremonies notifying Governor Alfred M. Landon of his nomination by the Republican party for the presidency of the United States.
A huge parade of prairie pageantry tomorrow afternoon will precede the formal notification and Landon's acceptance of the nomination at 8 p. m.

The governor will place his own interpretation on the Republican platform, adopted at Cleveland, sound a keynote for the coming campaign and reveal some of his personal philosophy of government in his acceptance speech. It will free him for a vigorous campaign in every section of the country.

Forty Special Trains
Forty special trains and hundreds of motor caucalades will bring visitors here from every state in the union. A formal notification committee, headed by representative Bertrand H. Snell of New York, will have charge of the night ceremony while a local arrangement committee will stage the afternoon parade.

FIREMAN LOSES LIFE IN WRECK

Engineer In Serious Condition In Hospital, Wreck Occurs Near Vandergrift

(International News Service)
VANDERGRIFT, Pa., July 22.—Eleven of the locomotive of an 88-car Pennsylvania railroad freight train piled up on the tracks a mile west of here early today, fatally scalding the fireman and severely injuring the engineer.
The fireman, John E. Konkle, 42, of Greenfield, a Pittsburgh suburb, died in the Allegheny Valley Hospital at Tarentum. He was the father of three children.
The engineer, W. C. Deviney, 58, of Blairsville, was in a serious condition in the same hospital.
Both men were pinned under the wreckage. A brakeman, riding on the engine tank car, and a conductor and flagman in the caboose, escaped injury.

Minister Dies While On Visit

Dr. J. Frank Moore, Native Of Pulaski District, Drops Dead In New Wilmington

Just after reaching the home of his sister, Mrs. M. L. Scott, of 549 Market street, New Wilmington, on a visit to the local district, Dr. J. Frank Moore, aged 74, of Manchester, Ia., was stricken with a heart condition and died before medical aid could be summoned early last evening.

Dr. Moore was a native of the Pulaski district, but has been located in Manchester for the past 21 years, where he has been pastor of the Community church of that place. Prior to that time he had resided in Oberlin, O., for a number of years.
He is survived by his wife, who had accompanied him here on the contemplated visit; three children, Mrs. M. R. Hull of Anacosta, Mont.; Jasper G. Moore of Des Moines, Ia.; and the one sister, Mrs. M. L. Scott, of New Wilmington.
Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, awaiting the arrival of his children.

TWO AMERICAN WARSHIPS ARE SPEEDING TO SPAIN

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Under forced draught, two American warships sped today toward Spain to carry the protection of the American flag to nationals in that revolutionary-torn country.
From Cherbourg, France, the battleship U. S. S. Oklahoma churned southward to San Sebastian, on the Spanish-French border, where the summer seat of the Spanish government and residences of American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers and embassies of other foreign powers are located.
Three days out of Norfolk, Va., the new heavy cruiser, U. S. S. Quincy charted an arrow-straight course for the British fortress of Gibraltar to protect American citizens in the southern part of the battle-ridden Andalusia peninsula.

Alleged Liquor Store Bandit Is Returned Here

Officers Bring "Slim" Doyle Back From Detroit, Michigan

STRUTHERS CRIME NOW ENTERS CASE

Eugene Doyle, alias Slim Doyle, alias James Hogan, was returned from Detroit, Mich., late Tuesday night charged with participation in the robbery at the point of a gun of the state liquor store in October, 1935. Thus far Doyle has refused to admit any part of the robbery.
He was brought back by County Detective A. Sharp Leslie, Chief Deputy Sheriff Ben Hartland and State Police Corporal Al Knudsen. State Policeman Robert McCullough and Arthur Leslie had gone to Harrisburg for extradition papers for Doyle but were delayed in Harrisburg by the department in charge. When it was learned that Doyle had waived extradition from Michigan, County Detective Leslie and the other officers left immediately by automobile leaving New Castle at one o'clock Tuesday morning and getting back at eleven Tuesday evening.
Officers feel that Doyle's sudden decision to waive extradition came after it is reported he had been identified by George Rapsky, Jr., as (Continued On Page Two)

BURGOS, Spain, headquarters of the northern rebel army, July 22.—By telephone to London via Biarritz—Spain's revolution "against the reds" is winning, and the day after tomorrow "Marxist Madrid" will fall. This was the jubilant assertion which greeted us today as we landed on the airfield in Burgos, first American journalists to reach the side of the rebels.

TWO FIREMEN DIE AS TRUCK RUNS INTO TREE

Eleven Other Chambersburg Firemen Are Hurt In Accident Early Today
(International News Service)
CHAMBERSBURG, Pa., July 22.—Two Chambersburg firemen were killed and 11 others were injured, two seriously, early today when their fire truck skidded into a tree near here while rushing to a Guilford township fire.
The dead were David Gabler, 19, who was believed to have died instantly, and Harold Snider, 30, who succumbed in the Chambersburg hospital.

The truck, according to authorities, was speeding around a curve during a heavy downpour of rain when it skidded and crashed into the tree—within sight of the fire on the William C. Cook farm, to which the unit had been summoned.

Seven Children Are Left Orphans By Double Crime

(International News Service)
PRINCESS ANNE, Md., July 22.—Reunited Sunday after an estrangement following a bitter family quarrel, Lee Laird and his wife lay side by side today in death, leaving behind seven orphan children.
Laird was 40 and a boatman. His wife, Edna, 38. Both were shot through the temple. A coroner's jury found the husband shot his wife and then committed suicide. Neighbors said they heard the couple quarreling before the reports of the pistol rang out.

Spanish Revolt Victory Claims Are Conflicting

Numerous Encounters In Parts Of Revolution Torn Country Are Reported

REBELS MARCHING ON MADRID, CLAIM

Government Asserts Rebels Are In General Rout Throughout Country

(International News Service)
Leading developments in the Spanish revolt today were as follows:
BURGOS, Spain—Rebels claim to be within 50 miles of Madrid, winning on wide front and expect to capture Madrid Friday, reveals H. R. Knickerbocker, ace International News Service foreign correspondent, after flying to rebel front lines and flying back to French border with first authentic picture of rebel situation.
Madrid—Peasants joining rebels by thousands, moving toward Madrid in three columns after conquering vast northern and southern areas. Government claimed rebels "in general rout throughout country" except Saragossa, Valladolid, and Seville.

LONDON—British admiralty rushed ten more war craft to Spanish waters to protect British lives and property.
GIBRALTAR—Spanish ships bombarded Algeiras, in rebel hands. British troops posted at strategic points to protect Britons. Loyal Spanish sailors reported starving because unable to land at nearby ports, mostly in rebel hands.

RABAT, French Morocco—Reported rebels in Almeria, southern Spain, capitulated after sharp encounter.
Recapture Rebels Locations
Madrid, July 22.—Government forces re-captured Cartagena from the Fascist rebels today, the government announced officially.

No fruit, no nuts, and unless it rains the potatoes and corn will be on their way, oh where is the rain that we ought to have, the weather is ninety and warm today.

TIFFIN, O., MAN CONFESSES HE SHOT HIS WIFE

(International News Service)
TIFFIN, O., July 22.—Because he "wanted to be free to run around a bit," a 42-year old Bellevue real estate dealer shot and killed his wife 11 years his senior, he confessed today, authorities announced.
Two hours after Joseph W. Perryman, the realtor, confessed the killing, officials found the body of his wife, Margaret, on a wooded lane near Bellevue.
Prosecutor Paul Flynn said Perryman offered no reason for the shooting other than he "wanted to be free." The killing took place eight days ago, on July 14. Since then Perryman has been driving around to cities in Northern Ohio and "doing a lot of drinking," he told Flynn. He was taken into custody on a bad check charge as he sat in a restaurant last night.

FOIL PRISON BREAK PLOT

Pittsburgh Is Scene Of Plot

Two Reported Implicated In Daring Plan To Dynamite Walls

DISTRICT ATTORNEY REVEALS DISCOVERY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—A daring, reckless plan to dynamite the huge granite wall of the Allegheny County jail here and free two prisoners, one of whom is accused of killing his mother, was charged today by District Attorney Andrew T. Park as other county officials sought to trace the source of a "leak" which upset plans to catch the plotters "red-handed".

Two prisoners and two friends who were out on bail were the perpetrators of the escape attempt, according to Park. One of the friends is held in jail and the other is still hunted.

Planned To Blast Wall

Plans were made, the district attorney said, to blast the wall along Diamond street near Sixth avenue, where traffic is frequently heavy. The wall at that point is three feet thick and 25 feet high. Had the plan gone through, Park asserted, many bystanders might have been killed.

Discovered when Warden John McNeil intercepted a letter three days ago, the plot, Park said, was designed to free John S. Hanna, Jr., 16, formerly Langley High School student charged with shooting his mother to death when she refused to let him have the family car.

Harry Lee Herod, 18-year-old negro, a federal prisoner charged with automobile theft, was the other prisoner to benefit through the plotted escape, Park said. The friend under arrest is Leo Petrulis, 18, who was free under bond on a robbery charge a week ago. Identity of the fourth man, also out on bond, was not revealed.

Despite every precaution on the part of county officials to keep the plot a secret, a story that a break was planned spread throughout the courthouse yesterday and the jail was soon crowded with newspapermen and photographers.

Letter Intercepted

The letter, intercepted by Warden McNeil, was addressed to Hanna, Park revealed. A second letter to one of the "outsiders" corroborated the evidence found in the first, the prosecutor said.

Planned for the afternoon recreation period, the plot was to blow a hole in the wall while prisoners exercised in the yard.

A search of Hanna and Herod found them concealing clubs fashioned from table-legs, the Warden said. Hanna's older brother, Henry, was questioned about a man he had planned to take to visit his brother but was later released.

Waiting outside the jail walls last night, John S. Hanna, Sr., the boy's father, remarked sharply:

"John would be a damn fool if he had anything to do with this."

The dynamite, Park believed, was to have been in the form of a crude bomb, as there would have been no opportunity to drill the wall. The letters referred to a "G" a payment for the crime, Park said. He interpreted it to mean $1,000.

The clubs, Park believed, were to clear the way for the pair after the wall had been dynamited. The break was to have been yesterday or the day before.

Relief Work Is Again Delayed

Once again the relief checks for Lawrence county and the other counties of Pennsylvania have ceased temporarily, according to James W. Moorhead, director of relief area 10, today. No checks have been sent out from the local relief office this week and none will be sent out until the General Assembly provides more money, Mr. Moorhead said.

The recent transfer of special funds, amounting to $300,000, has been exhausted with the mailing of checks for all relief due up to the first of this week.

There are several measures pending in Harrisburg that may end the delay but until they are passed and signed relief will be at a standstill.

Wolves Club Hears Chilton

A. W. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, delivered a comprehensive address on "The Proposed Waterways", at the regular dinner meeting of the Wolves club, Tuesday evening, in the Elks club, North Mill street.

Secretary Chilton discussed points relative to the proposed waterways in this district. David Valensi introduced the speaker. During the course of the meeting, James Carvella and Dr. A. Acquaviva were initiated into the organization.

Pedestrians And Auto Drivers Are Warned By Police "Voice Of Safety"

Efforts of the department of police to prevent traffic accidents here are meeting with the approval of not only motorists but pedestrians, according to observations made in East Washington street today where Traffic Policemen Carl Wallace and Thomas Jones were in charge of the "Voice of Safety" automobiles.

Jones' car was stationed at East Washington and Mercer streets and Wallace's car at Mill and East Washington streets.

Pedestrians were warned courteously not to cross a street in the middle of a block or walk across the street against the red light. Auto-lists were also instructed not to make left turns at Mill and Washington streets and to operate their machines safely.

The patrolmen broadcast their requests to any person or driver they believed inviting an accident. Both officers reported that persons warned once were careful the next time they went across the street and said that the people and motorists were cooperating with them.

President Plans For Return Tour

Will Make Trip Through Section Hit By Last Spring's Floods

NEW ENGLAND IS IN PATH OF TOUR

By GEORGE DUNNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ABOARD SCHOONER LIBERTY. Off Nova Scotia, July 22.—Cruising slowly up the rocky inner coast line of Nova Scotia toward Yarmouth today, President Roosevelt gave thought to his movements, political and otherwise after he returns to the states next week.

On July 31 the chief executive is due in Quebec for a courtesy call on Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada, in whose waters the schooner Sewana has been sailing since last Friday. Immediately thereafter it appeared Mr. Roosevelt plans a whirlwind series of tours that will carry him into virtually all of the politically debatable territory of this year's presidential campaign.

Arrangements are by no means definite yet but consideration was being given to a swing down the Connecticut River Valley and into New York state and Pennsylvania through the area which was badly by last spring's floods. This trip would be made by automobile from some point in Vermont immediately after the call at Quebec. This would take President Roosevelt through most of the normally Republican New England States, notably Massachusetts, home of former Democratic Governor Elihu Root, opponent of the Roosevelt-Garner ticket.

A two or three-day stop at the family estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., is then in tentative order. In the seclusion of this Hudson river retreat the president will be able to treat various of his key political lieutenants.

During the latter part of August, Mr. Roosevelt will make a swing through Minnesota and the Dakotas where the drought hit hardest to ascertain how his emergency relief program to put 55,000 farmers into WPA jobs "until snow flies" has panned out.

Rebels In Rout

Madrid, July 22.—Rebel forces are "in general rout throughout the country," with the exception of Saragossa, Valladolid, and Seville, General Pons, minister of the interior, asserted today in a radio broadcast. Government militia has occupied the road to Toledo near Madrid, he added.

Bombard Algeiras

Gibraltar, July 22.—Spanish warships today opened bombardment of Algeiras, important southern Spanish port now in rebel hands, according to word received here.

British authorities at Gibraltar refused a request from the rebel warships Libertad, Cervantes and Jaime The First for fuel supplies.

Rebels Capitulate

Rabat, French Morocco, July 22.—Forces in Almeria, southern Spain, capitulated to government forces today after a sharp encounter, according to word reaching here.

Reports from Tangier said members of the Spanish Foreign Legion marching toward the international zone of Ceuta in an attempt to crush the resistance of Spanish warships in Tangier harbor.

Drive On Madrid

Madrid, July 22.—Gathering peasant adherents by the thousands who waved monarchist flags as they leaped from the plover to the gun. Three mighty rebel hosts rolled like snowballs towards Madrid today, leaving in the north and south half of Spain's fifty provinces reportedly under insurgent control.

Hastily the radical government threw a red ring of tattered Marxist militiamen around the capital and buttressed the defensive circle with five giant spokes in the form of loyal troops and guardsmen counter-marching on revolutionary redoubts.

Leaving smoking, blood-spotted Seville behind, where American Ambassador Claude G. Bowers awaits the refugee ship U. S. S. Okla-homa, behind General Emilio Mola led a rebel army that pyramided to 26,000 men on to Madrid.

Ahead of his path in the Guadarrama mountains 50 miles north of Madrid the government blew up bridges and lined mountain passes with regular troops and 5,000 peasant volunteers, while in Madrid a vast "taxi-cab army" was ready for the crucial battle to stave off collapse of the regime.

On General Mola's western flank in the Province of Segovia, the second rebel column thrust towards Madrid, while the third streamed from the southern tip of the Spanish peninsula, where the insurgents won their first foothold.

Loyal forces drove towards Saragossa, Burgos, Valladolid, Seville and Toledo. The government claimed, without confirmation, that rebels in Toledo and Seville had surrendered.

With half the army estimated to be on the rebel side. The government was forced to rely for defense principally on Marxist volunteers. Every motor vehicle in Madrid was commandeered to speed the Proletarian army to the scene of fighting. As quickly as the regulars score an advance, the volunteers are sent in to hold the gain.

But peasant and workmen volunteers flocked, too, to the side of the Insurrectos, and Gen. Mola, who set forth from Navarre province with only 8,000 soldiers, found his ranks multiplied by Fascists and Monarchists to a strength of 26,000.

The rebels now profess to control not only the ten southernmost provinces, but also 15 in the north. Sporadic sniping kept Madrid in a nervous state today, and the secret presence of a large number of rebels in the city was bared with the distribution of a proclamation by a "supreme military junta" calling on all civilians to help overthrow the Leftist regime.

Barcelona is unconfirmably reported to have been won by the rebels after heavy fighting with the Communist counter-revolutionaries. Loyalists gained Alcala De Henares and claimed Almeria province.

"I can give you that assurance," replied Cranborne.

Deaths of the Day

Funeral For David A. Moore.
Funeral services for David A. Moore were held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from his late residence, 213 East Lincoln avenue, in charge of Rev. Clifford Pollock. There was a large display of flowers.

Interment was made in Fair Oaks cemetery, New Wilmington.

Mrs. Earl Derry.
Mrs. Lucille Derry, 34, wife of Earl Derry, of 263 West Falls street, died suddenly at Youngstown, O., Tuesday afternoon. She had gone there for a short visit, had a stroke of apoplexy, and died before a physician could be summoned.

She had always lived in New Castle. Surviving, in addition to her husband, are four children, Ruth, Grace James and Earl, Jr., one sister, Mrs. Virginia Anderson, this city, one brother, Ernest Smith, of Martinsburg, W. Va., and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p. m. Friday at the Bethel A. M. E. church, with the pastor, Rev. William McPherson, in charge, and interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Mrs. Ackworth Funeral Time.
Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Jane Ackworth, of 107 South Ray street, will be conducted Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Book-Leyde mortuary, Highland at Winter, in charge of Dr. C. K. McGeorge, pastor of the Second U. P. church. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

The family will be at the mortuary tonight from 7 to 9 o'clock when friends call.

Shingledecker Services Today
Funeral services for Mr. Tillie E. Shingledecker, 74, are being conducted at 2:30 p. m. today at the home, Hubbard-West Middlesex road, in charge of Rev. R. B. Harsha, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, West Middlesex. Burial will be in Haywood cemetery.

Harry McMillen.
Harry McMillen, aged 78, member of a pioneer New Castle family, died at his home in Wayne street, Beaver on Tuesday.

He was born in New Castle, December 15, 1857, the son of Capt. William McMillen, who operated canal boats on the old Beaver canal. During his early life, he was employed as a conductor on the New York Central railroad, and operated the train from New Castle to New Castle Junction for a number of years.

In 1901 he removed to Beaver, where he was employed as a conductor by the Beaver Valley Traction Company, until 1928, when he retired.

His wife, who was Mary A. Carner also a native of New Castle, preceded him in death several years ago. He is survived by a son and three daughters.

Funeral services will take place Thursday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. from the residence, Wayne street, Beaver, with burial in the Beaver cemetery.

William H. Stevenson.
William H. Stevenson, aged 83 years of Volant, died in the Jameson Memorial hospital, at 7:35 a. m. today, after five weeks of illness.

He was born at Greenfield, Mercer county, on October 13, 1852. His home had been in the Volant community for the past fifty years, and he was a member of the Volant Presbyterian church.

Surviving are his wife, Florence Talley Stevenson, to whom he had been married 50 years; three sons, W. Grover Stevenson, Washington township; Emerson E. Stevenson, Ellwood City; and Earl J. Stevenson, Akron, O.; two daughters, Mrs. G. Earl Nickum, Mercer, and Mary, at home and one sister, Mrs. Nettie McLean, in California.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with the Presbyterian pastor, Rev. David King Kerr, in charge.

ALLEGED LIQUOR STORE BANDIT IS RETURNED HERE

the man who had shot and killed his father in the Hepaskey cafe in Struthers, O. February 25, 1935. If the Struthers authorities have any case at all it is possible that Doyle will be sent to Struthers for trial and a detainer lodged against him by the New Castle officers in case of any acquittal.

Two other members of the gang charged with robbing the state liquor store are already in custody, two of them having confessed, Doyle admitted, knowing the men but would make no statement as to his own guilt. He is being questioned today.

Correct this sentence: "I haven't pitched hay for twenty years," said the candidate, "and I'll be darned if I do it to get votes."

It may be true that we measure others by ourselves. All great problems seem simple to the simple.

Beer License Is Cancelled

In a petition to the court today County Treasurer Joseph Hartland asked for the revocation of a former petition in which he asked for the revocation of the beer license of Belle McMahon at 1601 East Washington street. The reason assigned was that the license had been turned in and cancelled. The court cancelled the previous petition of Mr. Hartland.

The license was originally issued to Jennie Ginsberg on Moravia street but late in June a transfer was requested by Belle McMahon. This was granted. Later the county treasurer asked for the revocation of the license charging perjury in the signing of the application.

The action of the court today ends the case and the license has been cancelled by the county treasurer.

"GROCERY SHOWER"

HONORS BRIDE-ELECT

Showers of every description have been given for a number of popular brides-elect, but original and cleverly planned was the "grocery shower" given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Schwab, of 114 Sheridan avenue, Tuesday evening honoring Miss Susan Wallace, who will wed Don E. Rigby, on Friday, July 24. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Morgan Boyd and Mrs. John Walter.

The entire evening program, carried out the grocery theme and the shasta daisies played an important part in the decorations of the rooms throughout. Large sheaths were used about the rooms, the novelty nut basket favors were cleverly designed of the same flower, and other details were made impressive in this manner in completing the setting of the dining table where lunch was served.

Following, 6 year old Master Bobby Schwab, entered the living room dressed as a grocery boy, drawing behind him a coaster wagon laden with stacks of groceries. These were presented to the guest of honor to store in the cupboards of her future home.

In addition, Miss Wallace was given a handsome hand made "Bride Book" that disclosed "Omens To Be Observed By The Bride," and the signatures of the guests in attendance. To top off the evening, a recipe book containing favorite recipes of the guests was given the bride-elect, as other mementoes of the happy occasion.

The leisure hours that preceded, were spent with novelty "Advertising Games" which too, were in keeping with the grocery store idea, that proved a riot of fun and merriment. Mrs. A. Pearson Furst and Mrs. Harold Cox received the prizes for these contests.

Out of town guests who shared, were Mrs. J. E. Barrett, of Phoenix, Arizona, and Helen Wallace, of Harrisburg, the latter a sister of the bride-to-be.

RHEBA FRANK WILL

WED JULIUS MARKLEY

Mrs. David Frank of 311 East Lincoln avenue announced yesterday the engagement of her daughter, Rheba Frank, to Julius Markley of this city.

Miss Frank is a graduate of Drexel Institute at Philadelphia. Her fiancé attended the University of Pittsburgh school of accountancy and is at present engaged in the theatre business.

The engagement was formally made known at a bridge given by Miss Frank on Tuesday evening at a prominent downtown tea room. A prominent recent bride, Mrs. Gerald Zieve, nee Beatrice Gonick, wife of Dr. Gerald Zieve.

PICNIC EVENT AT

HORCHLER COTTAGE

Past chiefs and Pythian Sisters held an outdoor outing on Tuesday at the summer cottage of Mrs. G. G. Horchler at Cottage Grove. There were about 40 present, many of the families accompanying the members when they drove out to the pretty campsite early in the day. Some of the group went swimming until noon, when they were called to a most appetizing luncheon spread on long tables under the big trees.

Afternoon hours were further enjoyed by swimming again, cards and beano. Assisting the hostess in dispensing hospitality were Mrs. Rose Tripp and Mrs. Edith Artrell.

P. G. C. Club

At the home of Mrs. Adolph Lang on Fairmont avenue, Tuesday evening, the P. G. C. club was well come for the usual game of cards. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Rose Sander and Mrs. Andrew Paulini.

A tasty buffet lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Paulini. Kathryn Eve invited the group to her home on Superior street for the next session, Wednesday, Aug. 12.

MANY LOCAL PEOPLE

AT CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y.

With most of the population on the move, going principally to watering places to escape the heat, Chautauqua Lake, N. Y., is again attracting its full quota of New Castle residents.

Some have taken cottages for the season, while others are there for a few days or week ends. Among the group there now are: Dorothy Fisher, of Moody avenue, Lavina Hartz, Park avenue, Rev. C. H. Hauger, Haus avenue, Pearl Hilliard, North street, Pearl and Grace Hockenberry, Maryland avenue, William E. Hoffman, Highland avenue, Virginia and Elizabeth Katterson, Galbreath avenue.

James C. McGeorge, Highland avenue, Margaret Lowery, R. D. 2, Jessie L. Mockett, Grant street, Ella May Manning, Lincoln avenue, Mrs. M. J. Mathias, Park avenue, Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mrs. T. Smith, Garfield avenue, Hannah M. Walker, Park avenue, Mrs. Mary R. Walker, Haus avenue, Mrs. Roy M. Jamison, Mrs. Jessie E. Edgar, Sheridan avenue.

From New Wilmington: Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Galbreath, Dorothy Kirkbride, Mrs. Eleanor B. Lafferty, Mary V. Lafferty, M. Elizabeth Stewart, Mabel C. Stewart.

CALIFORNIA GUESTS

HONORED AT DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Barnhart, of Beverly Hills, Calif., and former residents of New Castle, are visiting here at the home of his father, I. Barnhart, of 914 Beckford street, and Tuesday evening a dinner was given in their honor at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. David Taylor, on Northview avenue.

The table was nicely appointed in the season's suggestions, and a full course appetizing menu was served at 6 o'clock. The time that followed was spent in reminiscing over old times. Others from out-of-town who shared this pleasure, included Mrs. David Carr and daughter Marjorie Alice, of Youngstown, O., and Mr. and Mrs. Burleigh Clark, of Stoneboro.

The Californians are spending sometime in this city with other brothers and sisters, this being Mrs. Barnhart's first visit in fifteen years. They left New Castle for the West seventeen years ago and the past six years, Mr. Barnhart has made the trip here. She was formerly Nell Fallon, and both have a host of friends who will be interested in learning of their arrival. Mrs. David Taylor and daughter Jane Agnew, will return in a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart to Beverly Hills for an extended visit.

WESTMINSTER GUILD

HAS INFORMAL TEA

Westminster Guild of Mahoningtown Presbyterian church held an informal tea party in the church parlors this afternoon, previous to the departure on Saturday of three of the members, Jean Humphrey, Geraldine Weisbaker and Peggy Wallace, who will represent the Guild at the summer conference in Salisbury, Pa.

The afternoon was delightfully informal, with a large number of guests in attendance. Daintily appointed refreshments were served.

Associate hostesses with Mrs. Shearer in charge of arrangements were the Misses Mary Elizabeth Norris and Ruth Strobel.

A business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. Clause, later in the evening. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Ray Gosney and included an interesting playlet, "The Missionaries Talk It Over", with Mrs. Gosney, Miss Mary Scherger and Miss Mary Elizabeth Norris taking the parts. Mrs. Clause read an interesting paper on the missionary work being done in South America.

The next meeting, on Tuesday, Aug. 18, will be in the form of a luncheon dinner at the B. P. W. cottage, Lakewood. Mrs. Ray Gosney will make arrangements.

Martha Lodge Outing
Martha lodge members have plans completed for a picnic outing to be held in the form of a luncheon dinner Thursday evening, July 23, in the grove of Cascade Park.

The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. David Matthews, chairman; Mrs. David Lewis, Margaret Davies and others.

Kennedy Reunion
Descendants of William and Elizabeth Kennedy will hold the yearly reunion on Sunday, July 26, at the home of M. D. Hogue, in Shenango township.

GARDEN CLUB HEARS

ABOUT HELEN KELLER

In the colorful garden of Mrs. J. L. Agan at her home on Madison avenue, Tuesday evening, the Mahoningtown Garden club enjoyed a buffet supper at 6:30 previous to the regular meeting.

Tasty sandwiches and accompaniments were arranged in an attractive fashion on a large table centered with a bouquet of floss, some of July's prettiest flowers. Afterwards, the club went indoors for the business session and program.

Roll call was answered by giving names of flowers successfully given in the shade by the members. Mrs. Richard Cooper, president, presided over the business period during which a report was heard from Mrs. D. C. Schnebly concerning the last meeting of the Garden Forum.

Progress made by school gardeners was reported by Mrs. W. H. Mauer-mann and Mrs. George Cook, this project in connection with Mahoningtown school, being carried on from early spring until after the customary flower show in the fall.

Turning the meeting over to Mrs. George Cook, chairman of the program, the members listened to interesting talks and papers. Mrs. Raymond Horchler spoke of "The Pinyon Tribe of Lake, Sea and River", and illustrated with attractive colored pictures which she had collected. Mrs. Richard Cooper gave a review of Lena Mae McCauley's book, "The Joy of Gardens."

Miss Hannah Agan daughter of the hostess who is home for the summer was present and told of an English project carried out by students in the English department of the schools she attends at Plainfield N. J.

She also read a most interesting letter written by Miss Helen Keller which was sent in appreciation of a donation of plants from the school for her own gardens which accompanied a donation of money to further blind research work.

Miss Agan had a personally autographed photograph of Miss Keller which she treasures highly as coming from one who can neither see, hear nor talk, yet who has become during her lifetime, one of the most cultured women in this country.

At the invitation of Mrs. William Wallace, the club will meet at her home on Madison avenue, for a similar 6:30 supper and meeting afterwards, on Tuesday, August 18.

MRS. T. B. SHEARER

HOSTESS TO GUILD

Mrs. T. B. Shearer had the Livingstone Guild members of the Central Christian church as guests Tuesday evening at a dinner in the parlors, Edgewood avenue.

Pretty summer flowers decorated the tables where the delicious menu was served to 20 members and five special guests at 6:30 p. m.

The guests were Mrs. Shearer's mother, Mrs. Laura Hamlet; Mrs. Frank Norris, Mrs. Sydney Harris, Miss Irene Williams and Miss Lenora Coates.

Associate hostesses with Mrs. Shearer in charge of arrangements were the Misses Mary Elizabeth Norris and Ruth Strobel.

A business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. Clause, later in the evening. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Ray Gosney and included an interesting playlet, "The Missionaries Talk It Over", with Mrs. Gosney, Miss Mary Scherger and Miss Mary Elizabeth Norris taking the parts. DESSERT-BRIDGE FOR

MISS MARJORIE AIKEN

Concluding a round of charming pre-nuptial parties arranged for Miss Marjorie Aiken, fiancée of John C. Fisher, Jr., of Pittsburgh, was a pretty dessert-bridge given in her honor Monday evening at the Peat home, Logan avenue, Sharon. Miss Mary Jane Peat and Miss Mary Ruth Myers were associate hostesses entertaining 16 guests.

When the hostesses presented a gift of gay, kitchen ware to the bride-to-be, they also remembered Mrs. Robert Birtz a recent bride with a gift. Mrs. Birtz, who moved to Sharon after her wedding early in June, is the former Miss Helen Ray of Marion, O. and is known in New Castle.

The tables were attractively arranged for lunch, with gay flowered luncheon sets and lovely favors.

In the bridge games of the evening, trophies were awarded Misses Virginia Luse and Charlotte Sam-ple.

Miss Aiken's wedding is to be an event of 4:30 next Saturday in the First Presbyterian church. The rehearsal dinner is to be given Friday evening by her brother, William L. Aiken, Jr.

DR. S. B. COPELAND

AND WIFE ENTERTAIN

With ideal weather and a happy crowd the M. C. Circle picnic of Tuesday at the summer cottage of Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Copeland, near Enon Valley, was a very delightful event.

The circle members from the Third United Presbyterian church, wended their way to the pretty summer camp of their former pastor and his wife, and after the excitement of greeting their hosts had subsided, they sat down to dinner served on the spacious lawn.

A social committee headed by Mrs. E. J. Ryan and with Mrs. Mac Wiles, Mrs. Walter Bixler, Miss Fannie Kline and Miss Nina Howard as efficient assistants unpacked the baskets and saw that everyone was served.

A short devotional and business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. C. McKibben. Plans were partially made for a garden party to be held at the D. W. Ritchie home in September.

Mrs. Copeland gave very interesting accounts of her work in Wheeling, W. Va., and expressed her pleasure of meeting the group again. The M. C. Circle was organized by Mrs. Copeland and named in her honor.

Mrs. Clara Lutz and Mrs. Burleigh Craig had charge of games and contests for young and old, prizes falling to Mrs. Lulu Kocher, Mrs. Mary Theophilus, Mrs. R. S. Copeland, Jack McKibben and Dorothy Craig. Swimming, boating and horseback riding were also enjoyed. Snapshots were taken of the entire group.

Special guests were Rev. R. S. Copeland, of the Brookline Boulevard church, Pittsburgh, and his family, Miss Della Copeland, of Wheeling, W. Va., Mrs. George Nolte, Mrs. Lale Christie and Mrs. Lulu Kocher, of New Castle.

Mrs. Copeland invited the circle to meet at the cottage annually and all assented most enthusiastically.

HALF HUNDRED AT

JOHNSON REUNION

Fifty direct descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Johnson attended the annual reunion held on July 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Druschel at Lordstown, O.

Dinner at noon was eaten in the beautiful grove which is a part of the big farm, and afterwards, the group, many of whom were from Apollo, Warren, Niles and New Castle, indulged in sports. The adults pitched horseshoes and played games while the kiddies ran races.

At the usual business meeting the election results were: President, Mrs. Ella Campbell, New Castle; vice president, George Johnson, New Castle; secretary, Mrs. Edna Crain, New Castle; treasurer, Mrs. Flora Johnson, Warren. It was decided to meet again next year, at the same place, on the third Sunday in July.

WEIGLETON REUNION

ATTRACTS OVER FIFTY

Seventh annual reunion of the Weigle town club and their families was held at Willard Grange hall Saturday, July 18.

Supper was served at 6:30 to about 65 who keenly enjoyed the delicious menu. A business meeting followed at which these officers were elected: President, Harold Currie; vice president, Mrs. Illie Weisz; secretary, Mrs. Norman Book; treasurer, Mrs. Lottie Hogue.

After the business was concluded, various games were enjoyed under the supervision of the sports committee. Jane White, Mrs. Illie Weisz and Mrs. Norman Book.

Have Picnic
Members of the Christian Endeavor of the Central Presbyterian church enjoyed an outing at Stoughton Beach, Monday evening. Delicious dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock followed by pastimes which included swimming and skating. The event was most successful.

IN TROUBLED SPAIN

FOR Spain, the overthrow of the last of the Bourbons was more the beginning than the end of social, economic and governmental crises. Traditionally, Spain has been a land of unrest, incendiarism, of revolt. Alfonso survived as king so many years only because it suited the interests of the military forces best to serve him faithfully. When he no longer could command their loyalty circumstances involving his personal safety made it expedient that he flee. Since then the land has been in more of a turmoil than ever, due to the absence of a strong figure capable of bringing order out of a condition of chaos.

The success or failure of the effort to overthrow the established order in Spain will be determined ultimately by the loyalty of or the disloyalty of the army, which has at its command the most convincing of arguments—rifles, tanks, artillery and gas. If the military forces become impregnated with the spirit of revolt, Spain will again witness the disestablishment of a government.

The republic, as administered so far, has not shown enduring qualities. Even though it survives the present crisis its prospects are far from bright.

GAS MASKS FOR ALL

What is this thing we call civilization, when only 18 years after the signing of the Versailles Treaty, Great Britain feels forced to announce she is preparing prompt manufacture of improved gas masks for every man, woman and child in the United Kingdom? In its implications it is the most shocking single piece of world news in many a day.

In effect Britain admits potential warfare has entered into a new and horrendous state in which vast sections of her populace can be endangered by air raids her water-borne fleet is powerless to prevent. Nothing short of recognition of this would impel her to make 40,000,000 gas masks, with the presumption that after the humans are taken care of she will do the same for horses, cattle and sheep.

As affecting possible changes in the face of political Europe, Bleriot's feat in flying the British Channel back in 1909 may be of greater historic importance than Lindbergh's flying the Atlantic. In bemused retrospect we recall, in connection with the former event, a headline in one of the late Mr. Munsey's Sunday afternoon newspapers: "Bleriot's Flight Makes Britain's Fleet Antiquated." It deserved the guffaws it received, but the befuddled writer turns out to have been a he-Cassandra. The unbelievable prophecy of July, 1909, is the verified fact of a little more than a quarter-century later.

JUDICIAL ACUMEN

Freedom of the press, like freedom of speech, is a constitutional guaranty of the maintenance of the inalienable rights of "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." With discerning insight Justice Bleakley of the New York Supreme Court, applied the principle in ruling on a motion by a divorce suit co-respondent to have publication of a story about the case declared an act of contempt, the papers having been ordered sealed. It was shown the story was based wholly on information obtained outside the court. To sustain the motion under those circumstances, the court held, would amount to restraint of publication in advance, contrary to a fundamental principle of law. Observance of the principle in its strictest sense was essential or otherwise, he said, the result would be the substitution of the judgment of the court for the judgment of the press. There is no need to expound upon the potentially destructive influence of such censorship. As the court remarked, "the law affords an ample remedy to one aggrieved by a libelous publication."

Asserting his belief that freedom of the press was more important than the freedom of speech, for, though "radio transmission has enlarged the audience," the written word is "accessible to all" and remains for mature consideration and thought, Justice Bleakley added parenthetically:

"A government is safe when a free press will give to its people a clear exposition of its problems and fair criticism of its officials. Courts should not be immune from fair criticism. The influence of the court rests on the confidence of the people. That confidence can be maintained only by an honest disclosure of its proceedings."

In those few words the jurist disclosed his broad comprehension and common sense view.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS TO THE FORE

With the appointment of William Stearns of Boston to direct the eastern drive of the young Republicans this organization's militant campaign should soon be under way.

For the last three years the New Dealers have been trading on their title as if in itself it should make an irresistible appeal to youth and all "first voters." More recently Candidate Roosevelt in his speeches has been unctuously assuming that in the continuance of the New Deal lies the only hope for the younger generation and its future children.

A rapidly increasing resentment by youth against such a free-and-easy assumption has been noted. To the glowing New Deal promises of pots of gold at the end of the rainbows the young men and women are asking: "Why not come down to earth? What have your New Deal experiments done for us except to pile upon our backs a burden of debt it will take years to pay off? You are blaming our parents and grandparents and saying that they never gave us a fair chance in life. But we can not recall any such hardships and denials of opportunity to make our own way in the world as we have experienced under your New Deal."

It may surprise the New Dealers when they learn how many millions of self-reliant, ambitious young men and women refuse to regard the Federal Government as their meal ticket. They are not looking for more hand-outs and for governmental leading strings until they reach full maturity. And they are beginning to realize, in increasing numbers, that their spiritual heritage of freedom and equality of opportunity is additionally endangered by every fresh hair-brained scheme and fantasy of the New Deal.

The young Republicans will play a vitally important part in this campaign, particularly since they have resolved to appeal to the youth of the land without regard to party. More power to them as they enter upon their patriotic task!—Philadelphia Inquirer.

I can't understand stamp collectors. On the other hand, a stamp collector couldn't possibly understand me.

Test of a Good Cook: Can she make nice, white, snowy, fluffy mashed potatoes?

A fatherly remark: If I talked as fresh to my dad as my kids do to me, he'd whaled the daylight out of me.

Dry interruption by grandfather: I remember when I used to say the same thing about you kids—and YOU never had a whaling in your life.

When I read for pleasure, I read every word of every sentence, tasting the full flavor as I go. But when I read for information I read in chunks, making four or five jumps down the page. It saves a lot of time.

My curiosity is my most painful vice. Stop that whispering over there in that corner. I can't STAND not knowing what you're saying.

Why is an impromptu party usually more fun than a planned one? We think we want life to go just as we have planned it, but we really don't. Surprises are the best part of living.

Funny sight: Small boy and his father walking down the street. And the small boy walking just as his father does. Making the same gestures. Sticking out his chin in just the same way. Is it imitation, or was it born in him?

THE FISH CLEANER

I sing of the fellow I envy a bit.
Yet his skill is not one that I wish.
He's my friend of the summer who's proud to admit
He's a wizard at cleaning the fish.
Just give him a knife and a board and a pail
And a pan full of pickerel or bass.
He will show you a method to skin 'em or scale
Like a teacher instructing a class.
That he has the knack of it there is no doubt,
And it's something to watch I confess.
'Tis an art of which I have learned nothing about
And a skill I shall never possess.
But he knows his fish from their heads to their tails
And he cleans 'em with deftness and grace
Without scattering gullets and dorsals and scales
All over himself and the place.
"Just watch me!" says he, "and you'll learn how it's done.
You start at the top of the spine.
Then down to the tail you must let the knife run!"
Oh, I would that such ardor were mine!
But there's something of earnestness plainly I lack,
Some weakness of will or desire.
For this fish cleaner's truly remarkable knack
Is a gift I do wish to acquire.

Is the sun bigger when on the horizon? We think it is. But is it? The explanation given is this: that during the day, when the sun is high, nothing is near it to compare it with in distance, and we think it is small; but when we see it on the horizon with houses and trees and church spires intervening, we believe it to be large. Is this true? It is not. To prove it, look at the moon from behind a lace curtain or from behind a bush. It will appear not a whit larger. The real explanation of the sun's apparent dilation is this: The sun is enlarged at sunset because the air magnifies it. Of course the air is in a condition to magnify objects all day. But when the sun stands high we look up through only a thin layer of air, whereas at sundown our eyes have to pierce the entire depth of the atmosphere—multiplied at least sixteen times. This accounts for the enlargement of the sun. Dust and heated air appear to be the causes of the magnification. Thus the phenomenon is more noticeable in summer and autumn our dusty seasons.

DO you know how to accept compliments? When a man tells you your dancing is divine—that you have a million dollar smile—that you are more beautiful than the most glamorous movie star—how do you take it? Seriously, as if it is a foregone conclusion? Facetiously, as if you think he is "handing you a line"? Neither method will appeal to him.

In a situation such as this, a charming smile would be decidedly better than any spoken word. "Thank you" seems smug. "Am I really?" spoken with a serious not, indicates that you are taking it to heart.

The World At A Glance

Coughlin to Stage Show
Followers Meet in August
Analyze Townsend MeetingBy LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

Now that the Townsend convention has ended in Cleveland, preparations are being made for the Coughlin convention in the same city the middle of August.

The public does not know who the advisers of the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin are and whether he is susceptible to advice. But these advisers may say to him that the Democrats are hoping he will be as temperate at his own convention as before the Townsend delegates. The Democrats go on the public record unfavorably to violent statements.

President Roosevelt, himself, believes in freedom of criticism of the chief executive. The radio priest, however, comes back at his critics with bitter vituperation. When they do not answer, he comes back still more strongly.

He is difficult to reach. Newspaper men rarely can get an interview with him. He is more unapproachable than a Roosevelt or a Landon. In that respect he differs from the late Huey Long.

But he has a tremendous emotional appeal. It is characteristic that the Townsends did not begin fighting over him until after he had left town and they had recovered sober thought.

ANYTHING GAINED?
After all, what did the triumph of Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith and Father Coughlin gain?

Instead of solidifying the Townsends behind Father Coughlin and his party, they created a revolt.

Dr. Townsend found his power shorn by his own directors when he tried to oust Gomer Smith of Oklahoma for criticizing Father Coughlin's attack on President Roosevelt.

The Rev. Mr. Smith, emotional spellbinder that he is, found himself being coolly received. One of the delegates even produced a telegram from Mrs. Huey Long, in answer to his, saying that the preacher did not inherit the Share-the-Wealth organization. Delegates began to question why this man was going in on the wealthy Townsend organization.

And Father Coughlin found that the Townsends would not endorse his Union party.

TROUBLE
In fact the Townsend convention had more trouble than either the Republican or Democratic conventions.

There were charges and counter-charges. The former Ohio manager, the Rev. Alfred J. Wright, filed suit charging dissipation of more than a million dollars of Old Age Re-

EFFECT?
But are the Republicans interested in developing a third party any more if they were previously?

Inflation, 20-billion-dollar pensions, share-the-wealth programs are nothing that the Republicans desire to propagate, even to defeat Mr. Roosevelt.

THOMAS
Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for president, who accepted the sudden Townsendite invitation to address the convention, actually was the high spot of the gathering. Why? Because his speech was temperate, full of logic, addressed to the mind rather than to the emotions. He had courage to tell the Townsends their plan would not work. He was booed, it is true, but in the end he was cheered.

Incidentally, of all the conventions this year, the Socialist convention has been the least emotional, the most evenly-tempered.

Rev. C. W. Duff Writes Of Life In Addis Ababa

Natives Still Rioting And Fighting In Some Parts
Of Ethiopia, Letter
Says

MISSIONARY WOMEN FORCED FROM HOME

From far off Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, comes another interesting letter from Rev. Clarence W. Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Duff of near Mt. Jackson, who is serving as a missionary under the Sudan Interior Mission.

Although it has been over two months since the Italian army captured the capital of Ethiopia, the land of Ethiopia has not been entirely peaceful and quiet. For weeks after Addis Ababa was taken great concern was held for the safety of white people in various parts of the country because of rioting Ethiopians and wars between tribes.

Stranded In Province.

Marooned in Marako (Gogetti) were two New Zealand missionaries, Miss MacMillan and Miss Horn, and five Armenian people. So many fears were entertained by missionaries in the capital city for their safety that Rev. Duff and Harry Glover decided to set out for Marako on May 27. It was a dangerous undertaking and both the American and British legations declined to furnish credentials to the men, but indicated that they were in sympathy with the purpose. As it turned out, however, a party of trusted native men volunteered to make the trip for a consideration, and did so. In the meantime the missionary women of Marako had already started the journey to Addis Ababa; the two parties met about three days out of the capital, and all returned to Addis safely. Much credit for the safety of the women, whose home had been raided and robbed, was given to a Christian native, Ato Dembil, who came for them after the raid and took them to his own home, keeping them with his wife and family for something like three weeks.

"When Ato Dembil came here with the party from Marako," Rev. Duff writes, "he didn't ask for money or for any favors, but last Friday he said he would like to be baptized. Dr. Lambie asked me to have a talk with him and on Saturday Miss MacMillan, Miss Horn and I spent a long time with him talking over his faith and his reasons for wanting to be baptized. He seemed most sincere and well informed on Christian truth. On Sunday morning we went down to the stream at the time of the morning native service and Dr. Lambie baptized him. The British legation, powerless to help us to bring the girls heard that this man had brought them. They sent a car for him, took him of the legation, thanked him on behalf of the British government and gave him a present of 200 thalers. We are also giving him a like gift, though he has not asked or hinted for anything."

Acting upon a request which had been voiced by missionaries some time before, the Italian army officials decided to send a rescue expedition to Marako, and although the New Zealand women were by this time safe in the capital, Rev. Duff was asked by General Garibaldi to lead the soldiers as guide to the district. He consented and was given just 15 minutes to get ready.

Expedition Starts But—

"We got off in the trucks just a little before dark," the missionary writes. "They had 30 trucks, huge ones, loaded with mules and men. The plan was to go as far as possible with the trucks and then by mule and on foot. I don't think they could have gone farther by truck than to the Hawash, about a third of the way to Marako. There were 500 men in the battalion, native Eritreans, with about a dozen white officers and a truck drivers. They pulled off in a field to camp only a couple of miles from where they started. They said they thought they were going to leave in the morning about 4 o'clock but must get further orders."

They set up their wireless, had supper and went to bed. Next morning about the truck drivers started up their engines but no orders came to move on.

Ordered To Return.

It was not until the following day that a message came, ordering all to return to the city.

"I got home in time to have breakfast with Dora (Mrs. Duff) and Edna Smartt, who was living with her in my absence. So once more we were spared a separation. It is quite a joke about my 'coming back from the war'. No one seems to know why the troops were called back after sitting in camp for a day and two nights.

"The fact remains that we are out of communication with any of our stations except Lalibela, Lasta, France, in the north. We have received from there letters by Mr. and Mrs. Oglesby, who tell us they are well and safe, and that the Italian occupation was accomplished without any disturbance. My boys, Sabiro and Tasamma, both Gudeles, insist that until all the Gudeles in Dubancho and Lambda sections (where their homes are and where the people know us best) are killed, the lives of Johnny Phillips and Peggy and the baby and Zillah Walsh, Norman and Flossie Couser will not be touched. I believe that is true, too, for they have been accepted into the tribe in a very real way. The Gudeles are fighting other tribes now but they are not likely to loot one another like the Guragi. These times, though, men are wild and are acting in a way no one who knew them formerly would have dreamed of. We can't trust them but we can trust God."

Library Books

—And Comments
(By the Free Public Library)

Fiction usually is advertised enough without being featured in the library reviews. But some novels of distinction have been published this season which are well worth at least a listing. Near the head of such a list would be Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With the Wind," a novel of the south during the Civil war and reconstruction period. The fascinating, though unscrupulous heroine will be long remembered.

Other recent fine or amusing novels are:

"I Will Live Up Mine Eyes," by Hubert Skidmore.

"San Felice," by Vincent Sheean.

"The Last Puritan," by George Santayana.

"Spring Storm," by Alvin Johnson.

"Gallant," by Ruth Sawyer Durrant.

"Mr. Pelley's Little Home," by R. E. Moon.

"Jamaica Inn," by Daphne Du Maurier.

"The Islands," by Gerald Brace.

"Take All to Nebraska," by S. K. Winther.

"Beyond Sing the Woods," by Trygve Gulbransen.

"Diary of a Suburban Housewife," by Dorothy Blake.

"Punch's Progress," by Forman Brown.

"In the Second Year," by Storm Jameson.

"Sparkenbroke," by Charles Morgan.

"The Doctor," by Mary R. Rinehart.

"The Cherry Bed," by Kariton Kelm.

Three Powers Plan Meeting

Stop-Gap Meeting Of Locarno Powers Will Be Held Thursday In London

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 22.—A stop-gap, three-power Locarno meeting will open in London Thursday. It was announced officially after several weeks of futile effort to have Italy take part without presence of Germany.

Great Britain, France and Belgium will be represented at the meeting, which will be held, according to the official announcement, "to examine the situation and consider how best to further the desire of the three powers to consolidate the peace of Europe by means of a general settlement."

The French view the parley as an opportunity to reach some definite agreement on a new European setup in the light of Germany's scrapping of the Locarno treaty and re-occupation of the Rhineland.

The British view, regarded as more likely to prevail, is that the three-power conference will lay the groundwork for a later five-power talk, with Italy and Germany taking part, at which definite strides will be taken to supplant the old, scrapped Locarno pact.

Name Committees For Club Picnic

Committees were named today by Voters League of Lawrence county to arrange for a picnic to be held in the near future. The club was formerly the Lawrence County Democratic League, but recently the name was changed.

Officers of the club are: general chairman, Joseph Clavelli; vice chairman, Mike Covelli; secretary, Michael Di Mucci; treasurer, M. Clavelli; trustees, Arch Cumo, Tony Pannella, Benny Iannaccone.

Committeemen named follow: prizes and location, R. S. Malleo, Arch Cumo, Michael Covelli, Joseph Pisanio, Frank Mastren; committees for grounds, Anthony Donofrio, P. Maciarelo, Vitus Vitello, Vincent Christopher; sports committee, Frank Rotari, J. Rozzi, Frank Ross, Z. Page, J. Tammariella and Arch Cumo.

Darlington Man Train Victim

Henry A. Douthitt Killed In Accident In Yards Of Brick Company

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 22.—Henry A. Douthitt, 33, of near Darlington, hero of a thrilling rescue of a little girl less than two months ago, today lost his life in a railroad accident when crushed between a freight car and a coal tippie.

Douthitt, brakeman for the Pittsburgh, Lisbon and Western railroad, was riding a car in the yards of the Alliance Brick Company at Darlington. The car jumped the track and crashed against a building. He was killed instantly.

Douthitt was riding the engine of a freight two months ago near Lisbon, O., and saw a little girl on the bridge in front of the oncoming engine. He crawled out on the "cow-catcher" and grabbing the child plunged into the Little Beaver creek. He later took the child safely to the shore. For this feat his friends planned to recommend him to the Carnegie Hero Commission. A brother of Douthitt, fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad, was killed when his train crashed from a viaduct in Pittsburgh two years ago.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Anna Douthitt, a daughter, Dorothy Jean and three brothers.

Account Number For Everybody

Plans Announced For Gigantic Accounting Of 30,000,000 U. S. Workers

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The nation's workers, said to number 30,000,000 are to be given an account number to be retained for life, under plans announced today by the social security board. The project is the largest registration and identification plan in the country's history.

The procedure is designed to bring all the eligible workers into the old-age retirement system provided for in the social security act.

Each worker, upon being registered, will be given an emblem, bearing his or her serial number, to serve as an identification tag and a record of the worker's account number in the security board's records.

To Prevent Errors

"The object of this number," the board said, "is the prevention of errors which might occur through the exact duplication of names, since there are many persons of the same name."

Thus, it pointed out, John Smith may wander over the country unworried by all the other John Smiths, so far as his retirement benefits are concerned, since his number emblem will set him apart in the files of the board.

The preliminary procedure, scheduled for November, is only a matter of identification of individuals. The board said it has no connection with the taxes to be paid by employers or employees and is not designed for tax purposes. Payment of annuities under the system will not begin until 1942, but calculations of the board point to payment of 300,000,000 lump sum death benefits as early as next year.

Billroy's Show Here On August 12

Billed as being bigger and better than ever, Billroy's Comedians are scheduled to play New Castle on Wednesday, August 12, according to an announcement today. This year's show is the 12th anniversary edition and is said to be larger in size and better in quality than the show here a year ago.

"Daphne" the fan dancer is with Billroy's this year and Daphne shakes a rather mean fan according to advance announcements. In Florida last winter she is said to have given the spectators a complete eye full and she will be on hand on August 12 with all her fan glory.

The show will be seen on the fair grounds on South Mill street under a tent capable of seating 4000.

Do not eat with one or both elbows on the table. It is bad form and very unsightly besides.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying an ointment called Resinol. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation.

The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting out of the irritated parts and makes you comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol.

The oily base of Resinol Ointment is ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action. Bathing the affected parts first with Resinol Soap hastens the effectiveness of Resinol Ointment. Many nurses suggest and use Resinol—why don't you try it?

Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 4, Baltimore, Md.

MR. AND MRS. WIMER ARE HONORED BY NEIGHBORS

Forty neighbors and friends of Oakwood avenue gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wimer of that street, Tuesday evening to tender them a farewell party as they are leaving their present location soon to take up residence in the Allen apartments on Pearson street.

The affair was in the form of a surprise, and the guests of honor were delighted with the evening of entertainment. Featuring a group of women in attendance served a delicious picnic supper at tables on the lawn at a suitable hour. Bouquets of flowers were used effectively in the table decorations, and the same also adorned the rooms throughout. While a period of chat and informal pastimes occupied the attention of many following the serving of a delicious menu, an added surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. Wimer when they were presented with a collection of lovely farewell gifts, carrying good wishes, in behalf of the assemblage. These were of a miscellaneous nature and will be used in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimer are the parents of City Controller Earl Wimer, who with other children of the couple, participated at the event last evening.

MRS. GERALD ZIEVE HONORED AT BRIDGE

As a courtesy to Mrs. Gerald Zieve, nee Beatrice Conick, and wife of Dr. Gerald Zieve, and a bride of recent date, Miss Rhea Frank entertained at an informal bridge Tuesday evening at a downtown tearoom.

Three tables of players competed for honors, the lovely honor score prizes falling to Mrs. Ralph Friedman and Miss Dora Wink at conclusion of play. Following, a dainty lunch was served at tables decorated in a color theme of rose and silver.

Chapter of Youth

This evening at 7:30 o'clock members of the Chapter of Youth will meet for the installation of new officers in the Tigers clubrooms.

TUESDAY KENSINGTON AT MT. JACKSON HOME

Out-of-doors parties were right in order yesterday, and one that proved especially entertaining was the luncheon event held for Tuesday Kensington associates at one o'clock, with Mrs. Carrie Davis of Mt. Jackson presiding as hostess at her lovely home.

The luncheon table was attractively appointed with clusters of garden flowers and arranged on the front veranda, where a most appetizing menu was served. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. James Moses, Mrs. T. C. Post and Mrs. H. G. Beer in serving. Covers marked for the usual club number and four special guests, including Mrs. John Miller, Mrs. Chester Craft, Mrs. Sara Hickok and Miss Arletta Drew. The hours that ensued were spent leisurely strolling about the gardens, taking snapshots, and fancy-work.

Plans were made for their next meeting, to be held Tuesday, Aug. 4, which will take place at the summer cottage of Mrs. C. T. Metzler on the Slippery Rock creek. The same procedure will be observed and Mrs. J. Q. Roberts is chairman of the transportation committee. Other committees will be announced.

SMALLER CHILDREN TO HAVE CASCADE PICNIC

Cascade Park is the ideal picnic spot for children and that is why arrangements have been made to convey a merry group of youngsters from the Primary Junior department of the Third U. P. church there, on Thursday, July 23.

Eleven o'clock in the morning has been set as the hour to meet in the grove. Races and games will follow the dinner at noon, at which it is expected covers will be laid for 150 guests.

Mrs. P. D. Gibson, superintendent of the primary department, and Mrs. Floyd Moore, superintendent of the Junior department will be in charge.

G. T. E. On Thursday

Mrs. Clyde Lloyd will entertain the G. T. E. club on Thursday evening, instead of this evening, at her home on Acorn street.

SURPRISE PARTY HONORS BIRTHDAY

A surprise party honoring the birthday of George Cowan, Sr., of 208 Holton street, was an event of the week. Music and chat were enjoyed and many lovely and serviceable gifts were presented to the guest of honor.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Cowan, assisted by Mrs. Floyd Shoaff, Mrs. Dale Cowan, Florence Smith and Marian Cowan.

A number of out of town guests were present among who were: Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. George Lewis, Jr., children, Beverly and Lowell, Mrs. Walter Whitcomb, daughter, Allegra, of Salem, O., Mrs. Joseph Butler, and daughter, Maryville Lou, Youngstown; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Shoaff, Ellwood City, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Swogger, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McBride, Wampum.

JOLLIKOUSINS CLUB OUTING AT CASCADE

In the grove at Cascade Park on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, members of the Jollikousins club assembled, and enjoyed a supper outing. An appetizing menu was served by the committee in charge, and the time that ensued was spent about the park grounds, and at the dance pavilion.

Special guests present were Mrs. John McClelland, Mrs. Merle Curran, Mrs. Edwin Sisley and Mrs. Howard Riddle.

Their next assembly will be held August 4, with Geraldine McClelland entertaining at their cottage on the Slippery Rock.

McCARRONS CELEBRATE WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James McCarron of the Koppel-Wampum road was the scene of a happy gathering when friends and relatives gathered to help celebrate their 49th wedding anniversary, recently.

An enjoyable evening was spent with music and games and a shower of beautiful gifts for the honored guests featured. An appetizing luncheon was served.

Included in the guest list were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCarron, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Suders, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mulroy of the Wampum road, Mr. and Mrs. John Kirkwood and Lillian Badill of Wampum, Edward Wilson of Baden, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Householder and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Evans and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Evans and family of Ellwood City.

DESSERT-BRIDGE AT MRS. E. W. CRAWFORD'S

Mrs. E. W. Crawford will entertain at a dessert-bridge on Saturday afternoon, July 25, at 1:30, the affair being for the pleasure of her sister, Mrs. John Q. Stewart, who is visiting here from Harrisburg.

The affair which will take place in the Wallace avenue residence of Mrs. Crawford, will interest 24 guests.

Seaman-Duffy

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Powers, of the Mt. Jackson road, announce the marriage of their niece, Charlotte Seaman, to Callen Duffy, both of Washington, D. C.

The marriage was a very quiet affair of February 8, in Washington, with the bride's mother and brother Seaman as attendants.

The young couple will reside in Washington, D. C., where the bride is connected with the Department of the Interior as a stenographer, and the groom is also in the employ of the United States government.

Mrs. Duffy made her home for several years at the Powers home. She is a graduate of the New Castle Business College, Class 1931.

Honor Recent Bride

Mrs. Fred Williams, the former Miss Constance Priestley, was the honor guest Monday evening at a picnic of the I. B. H. class, First Christian church in Cascade Park, and was given a lovely gift by the class, with Mrs. W. R. Hanna making the presentation speech.

Two special guests, Mrs. Clark Davis and Mrs. Wm. Jones, former members of the class, were present.

Plans for a corn roast on Monday, August 17, were furthered and a committee composed of the Misses Florence Nickel, Betty Pollard and Sara Swan, appointed.

G. A. R. Ladies' Picnic

Ladies of the G. A. R., George McCracken Circle, 168 planned a picnic at their meeting Tuesday afternoon in Modern Woodman Hall. It will be held on July 31, at Cascade Park, a tentative date, July 29 being changed later yesterday due to the grocer's picnic on the earlier date.

The event will be for members only, and will be a basket affair with dinner in the grove at 6 o'clock.

NEW YORK, July 22.—Not That
It Matters: A young man named Omoro Catan, who has gained a curious fame here by his fevered fixation on being the first citizen to cross every new bridge, ride on every new subway and bus line and board every new ship on its maiden docking, has the reporters of trivia dizzy with controversy since the recent opening of the gigantic Tri-borough Bridge.

Mr. Catan bought a new automobile for the occasion and waited up all night to speed across as soon as the tape was cut. Twenty feet from the toll booth his motor stalled and he had to be pushed ashore by perspiring and philanthropic pedestrians. The misadventure allowed a man on a bicycle to precede Mr.
Catan across the span.

The controversy, which is so silly it has a sort of grandeur, is over whether men on bicycles count as authentic "firsts."

Mr. Catan says he only collects first rides. A man on a bicycle isn't riding, he explains with patient nicety; that's a pure case of peddling—arrant self-propulsion.

Bob Hope discovered a few weeks ago that, what with radio babbling and legit rehearsals, he wouldn't be able to sneak his two weeks in the country this year. The discovery ranked with thermometers—in the memorable Bugs Maer phrase—gargled red ink. Bob decided he must cure his yearning for a sylvan interlude; just the thought of the country gave him the fidgets.

Hence he contrived, on his day off, a picnic pilgrimage to make him content in town. He invited a friend with two children under 5 to ride out into the spaces for the day. Bob fixed the sandwiches. He saw to it that they were properly soggy. The infants yelled in chorus from dawn to dark and Bob was delighted to find ants in the mayonnaise. He thinks New York is pretty fine now in the hottest weather.

A Brooklyn stickler for accuracy pens a gentle rebuke for my "loose figuring" in a recent squib when I described Marlene Dietrich as totting several hundred thousand dollars' worth of jewels around on her person. My critic points out that the beautiful Marlene couldn't have that much worth of rocks because,
according to tax assessment lists, jewelry owned by any mine appraisers at only $30,000. Harold Lloyd, of all people, is the collector.

I can only say that $500 worth of jewelry on Marlene Dietrich would look more like several hundred grand than $30,000 worth in the Lloyd vault.

I visited my barber for a much needed trim. He sighed as he adjusted the apron around my neck and suggested at fierce mustachios
(His—not mine).

"Well, I won't bore you with any talk about Ethiopia today. You're a newspaperman and I suppose even our splendid victory over there has become—how do you say?—old potatoes for you by now."

His tone was sad. But after while he brightened and spent thirty eloquent minutes selling me a new-fangled massage.

First U. P. Pastor, Wife, Leave On Trip

Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First U. P. church, accompanied by Mrs. Irvine and their young niece,

They plan to visit for several days with relatives of Mrs. Irvine near Columbus, O., and then proceed to Dallas to view the Texas centennial exposition. Most of their visit will be passed at Parker's Creek, a lonely government experimental station in the Arizona wilds. Dr. Irvine's brother-in-law directs the station.

Organized Labor Ranks Are Split

Mass Unionism And Craft
Unionism Forces Are Bitterly Antagonistic

LEWIS AND REBEL UNIONS TAKE STAND

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service
Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The new order of organized labor today turned definitely away from leadership of the old.

Mass, or industrial unionism, the lusty infant which has grown up within the ranks of the fifty-year-old, craft unionized American Federation of Labor, struck out for itself.

No more does a single great organization control the forces of organized workers in the United States. Now there are two factions, each bitter in its antagonism to the other.

A meeting of the twelve "rebel" unions of the industrial forces, comprising the committee for industrial organization and headed by powerful John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, met the die of division. They met the blunt charge of insurrection and dual unionism lodged against them by the A. F. of L. with a unanimous decision to ignore the federation's summons to appear here for "trial" August 3.

Moreover, the CIO unions announced plans to expand their defiant drive to unionize the steel, textile, automobile and rubber industries along mass or industrial lines.

Finally, the "rebels" drafted and dispatched to President William Green of the A. F. of L. a letter denying the federation's power to throw them out.

The next move, it appeared, was up to the federation, and will come when its executive council reassembles August 3.

Suspension of the CIO unions appeared the only solution to the problem for the harassed council, for if the whole issue is postponed until the federation's convention in November, with the twelve "rebel" unions attending and in good standing, their expulsion will be impossible. The CIO forces comprise about a third of the A. F. of L. membership now; inevitably, they would gain some support by the time the convention assembles, and a two-third vote is necessary for expulsion.

WPA Workers Are Blamed

Hold WPA Workers Responsible For Fatal Motor Crash Near Uniontown

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., July 22.—Neglect on the part of a crew of WPA workers today was blamed by a coroner's jury for the death of Mrs. Frances Bator, 56, of Thompson No. 2 mine.

The jury found that loose stones, left at the side of the highway for weeks, caused the car of Foster Benenati in which the woman was riding, to go out of control, swerve against another machine and overturn.

"From all the evidence we find that the WPA administration, in failing to make loose stones at the side of the highway safe for traffic, was directly responsible for the accident," the coroner's verdict read.

Several Slight Auto Accidents

Several automobile mishaps occurred during the past 24 hours, according to reports made by motorists to city police. However, no persons were injured in the collisions.

Cars of Clair Oberlighter, Sampson street and J. H. Hurley, from Ohio were in a slight accident in East street, at 12:45 p. m.

Car with Pennsylvania license 2F2S6 and one driven by W. H. Broad, Hillcrest avenue, were in a slight accident at 5:45 p. m. at Sycamore street and Apple alley.

Machine of Michael Kovach, R. D. 7 and a car with Pennsylvania license 6158C were in a slight collision at 10 a. m. yesterday in East Washington street near the railroad crossing.

Gay Afternoon For Henry Home Group

Laughter is ringing out in great volume this afternoon at Lakewood Beach, where almost 40 children of the Margaret L. Henry Home are enjoying a merry outing as the guests of the Kiwanis club.

At 6:30 tonight the Kiwanians will sit down to dinner with the youngsters and then enjoy a short program. Games are featuring the afternoon hours.

No regular Kiwanis luncheon was held today.

The astonishing thing about vacations is the distance people will travel just to have a fatal accident.

Relief Program Still Unsettled

Jobless Again Flock To Harrisburg In Effort To Force Action

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 22.—Pennsylvania's unemployment relief machinery broke down under political disagreement today for the second time this month, leaving more than 112,000 needy immediately without state aid.

With the legislature unable to agree on a tax program to finance the relief burden, jobless delegations from various sections of the state swarmed into the capitol, awaiting the convening of the general assembly, now in its 12th week of sessions which have been devoted mainly to the problem of relief.

While the jobless, hundreds, demanding a settlement of the relief problem, looked on, the house was to consider a two per cent increase in the corporate net income tax, passed by the senate as one of the revenue proposals to provide relief funds.

The relief measure, estimated to raise approximately $6,000,000, would increase the present tax on net incomes of corporations from six to eight per cent. It was passed finally in the Republican-controlled senate by a vote of 38 to 9 after Democratic efforts to have it amended to provide for a six to 10 per cent increase were beaten down.

Passage of the bill came after Sen. G. Mason Owlett, R. Tioga, warned the senate the corporate net income tax, together with an increase in the levy on savings banks and trust companies in connection with the recently-enacted personal property tax, would constitute taxes to be approved by the Republicans.

Owlett said these taxes, together with others passed, would bring in $40,500,000 toward the total session appropriation of $49,000,000, and that $10,000,000 profits of the state liquor stores could be utilized in furnishing the balance.

While Democratic administration spokesmen said the use of liquor store profits would be "clearly illegal" and legislative leaders struggled over features of the relief revenue program, attempts to provide immediate emergency funds failed.

COLLEGE GIRL'S SLAYING MYSTERY STILL BAFFLES

Sheriff Hopes For New Break

Investigator Believes Night
Watchman Is "The Key"
To Mystery Solution

FIVE PERSONS ARE BEING QUESTIONED

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 22.—Daniel Gaddy, private detective and nightwatchman at the exclusive Battery Park Hotel, is "the key" to the solution of the slaying of Helen Cleveland, prettily 18-year-old New York University co-ed, in the opinion of Sheriff Lawrence Brown, who is conducting the investigation into the mysterious murder.

Not that the sheriff thinks Gaddy committed the crime. He does not. But, he declared, he hopes Gaddy will "tell him something" when he again questions him in the county jail today.

Five In Custody
Gaddy and four others, including Mark Wollner, handsome 35 year old German-born violinist, are in custody "for questioning" in connection with the killing of Miss Cleveland, who was beaten and shot to death in Room 224 of the Battery Park Hotel at 1 o'clock last Thursday morning during the height of an electrical storm. Her body, clad in green silk pajamas, was found seven hours later near the bathroom door. Somebody had gotten into her room, evidently with a pass key.

"Gaddy is not a suspect," Brown flatly asserted.

Suspicion seemed to be veering away from Wollner, too, and there was a prospect the musician might be released from custody within a day or two. Last night, for the first time since he was taken into custody Saturday night, Sheriff Brown questioned Wollner.

Sticks To Alibi
According to the sheriff, Wollner changed his story slightly but adhered to the essentials of his alibi—namely, that he was at the home of Mrs. Essie Ward, a widow, and her daughter, Miss Mildred Ward, 19, where he was a roomer, from 9:30 o'clock Wednesday night until 8 o'clock the following morning, thus accounting for his whereabouts at the hour of the crime.

Miss Ward, who has been keeping company with Wollner for about a year, corroborated his alibi and has not changed her story in the face of renewed questioning.

The two others, who are being held are L. D. Roddey, negro elevator operator at the hotel, and Edward Fleming, negro bell hop. Sheriff Brown questioned them at length but declined to disclose the nature of their stories.

Sheriff Brown admitted he did not confront Wollner with the stories he had obtained from eight other persons which might be construed as casting doubt on the musician's alibi. The sheriff merely obtained "another statement" from Wollner. What Wollner said he refused to reveal.

Voters Who Move
Must Register
At New Address

Voters who have moved since the primary election in April seem to be unaware of the necessity of changing their registration, according to Thomas C. Edmunds, chief clerk of the registration bureau in the court house.

Since January 1 there have been but 35 changes of registration due to change of address. Unless a voter who has moved changes his registration he will be unable to vote in the November general election, according to Mr. Edmunds.

It is possible to change registrations up to September 3, after that the voter will have to wait until after the general election. The office of the registrar is open every working day from 9 to 4 o'clock.

'Human Chain' Saves Women

Group Of 50 Shriners Rescue
Women After Auto
Plunges Over Precipice

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—A thrilling story of how 50 Pittsburgh Shriners risked their lives in a "human chain" to rescue three women trapped in their automobile over a 70-foot precipice in the Yosemite canyon was recounted here today.

Pinned against a tree, the automobile came to rest just 10 feet from a drop of 300 feet into rim of the canyon, near Merced, Cal., according to the story. The 50 rescuers were part of a party of 300 who left here two weeks ago for their convention in Seattle, Wash.

Describes Rescue.
Describing the unusual rescue upon his return, J. W. Barber, recorder at Syria Mosque here, one of the rescuers, said:

"We were in buses, en route to Merced, Cal., where we were to board a train. Passengers in the first bus saw a youth standing in the rock-strewn road waving his arms wildly. They thought it was a holdup and kept on going.

"The second bus stopped when the youth yelled: 'Help me. Help me.' And disappeared over the hill. We got out and looked down. It was about 70 feet down to the car.

Taken To Hospital.
"The precipice was like loose slag. It was hard to get a foothold, but we formed a 'human chain' and got the women out, wrapping them in blankets and passing them up the slope from one man to another until we reached the top.

"One girl was seriously injured, the others slightly. It was at night and the darkness hampered our rescue.

"At the top of the precipice Dr. J. Huber Wagner, former all-American Pitt football star, gave the injured first aid. Then we rushed them in our bus to a hospital."

AROUND CITY HALL

Annual report for the year 1935 for the city of New Castle has left the press and J. Leon Pink, director of finance, already has sent some of the booklets to other cities of the third class. According to the report, the treasurer's balances January 4, 1936, totalled $197,421.80, all of which was deposited in local banking institutions excepting $5,071.34, which was kept at the treasurer's office.

The annual report of the city for 1935 shows what was collected at Cascade park during that year. Parking of cars brought the city $1,463.60 and the rental received from the dance hall operator brought the city $1,200. Other sources there which paid the city were as follows: restaurant $400, Dodge-Em $450, Gorge ride (now abandoned) $450, merry-go-round $325, peanut stand $250, novelty stand $175, Old Mill $300, swimming pool $500, grove stand $100, skeeball $40.40, and bingo $75.

Seven thousand five hundred and ninety-four persons golfed at Sylvan Heights during 1935, according to the annual report of the city now off the press. Of this number there were 5,784 who bought 25-cent tickets. More than 200 had senior, family or juvenile memberships. One thousand five hundred and ninety bought 50-cent tickets.

During 1935 the city paid the sheriff of Lawrence county $963 for the care of prisoners and of $400 appropriated for court costs only $37.55 was used. The city paid the Game-well company $1,465.58 installment on the purchase price of the system installed during the first year of Mayor Charles B. Mayne's term. The system is used by police to report into headquarters.

BEE STINGS
HARRISBURG—Bee-inspectors of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture frequently receive as many as 200 stings a day. "Which goes to prove," observed J. Hansell French, "that a bee's sting is only 1-32 of an inch long and that the other two feet is imagination."

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD PROBLEMS

Not many women are available to whom parents would entrust their children for complete control and final discipline; nor are there many intelligent women available for hire who would care to assume responsibility for disciplining children over three or four years old. Some women who are very skillful at managing little children through constructive suggestions, distractions and clever persuasion, may be wholly incapable of controlling older children.

Caretakers who resort to tattling on the child regarding his bad behavior in his parent's absence, find him soon an open enemy who makes it miserable for them. The "court" scene likely to follow has all sorts of bad consequences. Be there several children in the family, tattling and lying will induce jealousies, therefore, more quarrelling and fighting in the future.

On returning home, you discover signs of property destruction or of other bad behavior in your absence. You had better let the matter go. Next time leave the children with a person more capable, who will have complete authority; or, stay home; or, just put up with the consequences. In any event, conduct no trail.

Many older children will impose upon domestic help, growing impatient and discourteous toward them, bossing them around. Bad for the character and personality of the child of five or fifteen to be rude to domestic help. Many a self-respecting woman will leave a comfortable home rather than endure such insults to her personal pride; and you and I admire her for doing so.

Let your children learn very early never to give orders to your help; rigidly enforce this rule. Do so chiefly for your child's sake. Lose no opportunity to train your child in right manners toward your help, being a good model yourself. If it is a choice between courtesies toward your guests and toward your help, put the emphasis on the latter, since it has more to offer by way of moral education. Our children may learn from pain of experience if they neglect their manners with our friends and theirs; but if they are discourteous to hired help, they may not nearly soon enough pay deserving penalties. Others will have to suffer for their meanness.

Maids have a day or two a week off. It is then that the children can learn to step in, boys as well as girls, and do many of the things their mothers otherwise would have to do.

Beer Cans Increase Tinplate Demand

Report Shows Steady Increase In Manufacture Of Cans For Beer

One of the big reasons for the increased production of tin plate in the past year seems to be caused by the increase in the amount of beer that is being placed in cans. A report from the industry shows that today 35 per cent of all beer produced is put into cans, where a year ago but 25 per cent was canned.

Apparently canned beer is well beyond the experimental stage. Experience has shown that canning beer is the economical way of putting it up, transportation costs are saved and the necessity for deposits on bottles is obviated.

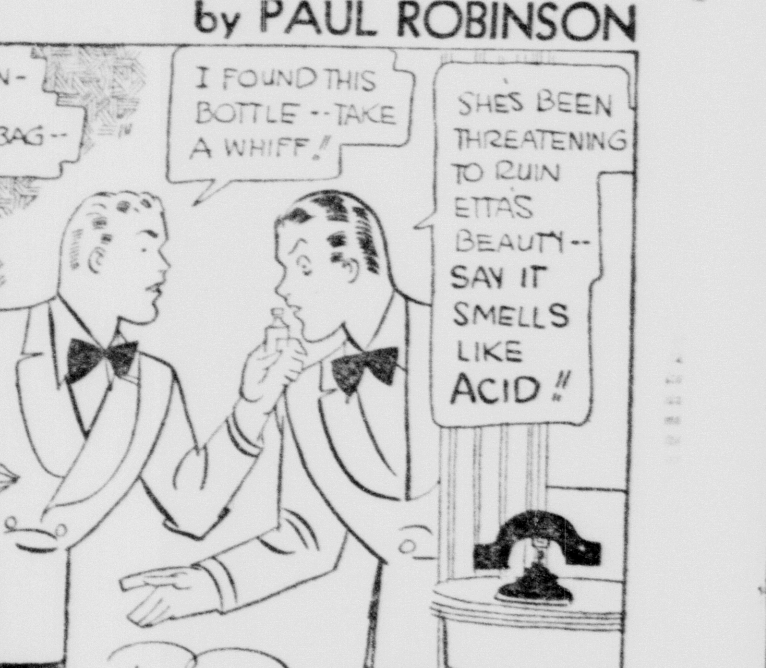

Early in 1934 there was but one brewery in the United States canning beer. Today there are scores doing it, and the number is increasing monthly.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Lemke's Power Being Analyzed

Politicians Begin To Speculate On Actual Strength Of Presidential Candidate

ZIONCHECK IS STILL IN FAVOR

Central Press Washington Bureau 602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, July 22.—Having watched the Lemke-Townsend-Gerald L. K. Smith-Coughlin convention in Cleveland from afar, the Democratic and Republican managements are trying now to digest the gathering's implications and arrive at some definite conclusions concerning their bearing on next November's possibilities.

As to size and vigor, the Cleveland affair was far more formidable than orthodox politicians had expected.

It was less harmonious, however, than they had anticipated.

Not only was there plenty of hair-pulling among factions in Cleveland; still more of it is looked for as the campaign progresses. The Lemke-ites and Coughlin-ites are seen reasonably well affiliated, but the Townsend-ites appear to be split and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith is regarded as being bent upon the task of stealing Dr. Townsend's thunder.

The regulars do not believe that the conflicting outlaws groups will get closer and closer together; they believe that they will get farther and farther apart as election day approaches.

WHICH?
Republicans prefer to think that the third party movement will draw much more heavily from President Roosevelt's vote than from their own; the Democrats prefer to think the opposite.

There is nothing in particular to prove either contention.

Maybe the defection from the old parties will be about 50-50; maybe it will amount to very little one way or the other. It's a new situation, not to be calculated accurately.

ZIONCHECK
And here's a queer one:
Voters from the state of Washington tell me that Representative Marion A. Zioncheck is likely to carry the Chinook commonwealth any way he boosts for.

Zioncheck, when he first came to Washington in 1933 as a Democrat, came with a fine reputation. He had it recognized on all hands, done a wonderful work in organizing Seattle's unemployed. I interviewed him soon after his arrival here. He manifestly was a fine young legislator.

I judge that his constituents think so too. He can get them to attend his mass meetings at 25 cents per head.

His version is that he inadvertently went on a rampage in the capital, but it was only temporary; that the administration, irritated by his rampage and perhaps by his intrinsic redness, utilized the rampage to put him hopelessly "on the friz."

Believe Bog Fire Is Under Control

Week's Battle With Blaze Near Grove City Is Nearing End

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, July 22.—Still smoldering, but with danger of serious property loss averted, a bog fire on the Uber farm, just east of Tidhall avenue is believed under control and confined to a few stumps. Firemen, state foresters and volunteers have been fighting the blaze, which was largely in the peat under the surface, since July 12th, when the local fire department worked for five hours and temporarily halted the spread of the flames into adjoining woodlands.

When Roy Stewart, local deputy fire marshal, realized that he and his volunteers were making no progress after a week, he telephoned the district marshal at Clarion, and two men, with a truck and 3,000 feet of hose were sent here. The area was flooded, and at present only a few stumps are burning in the middle of the area.

In many places, the flames had eaten to a depth of three feet underground. Several times last week the flames burst out and consumed small saplings and brush, threatening to reach fine stands of timber on adjoining woodlots. It was one of a very few similar fires in the history of the community, and was caused by the protracted dry weather.

A similar blaze has been burning in a swamp near Jackson Center, north of here, where state fire wardens have been hard-pressed to prevent a spread of the flames.

Rev. M. L. Lowe Ends Series Of Bible Sermons

Rev. M. L. Lowe, Bible teacher and conference speaker, of Bible school Park, N. Y., who has been the special speaker since July 12 at the Calvary Gospel Tabernacle, East New Castle, brought his series of Bible discourses to a close Sunday night with a most interesting sermon on "Following the Golden Trail With Revelation," delivered in the presence of one of the largest crowds the tabernacle has had.

Rev. Lowe had drawn and held great interest during his entire engagement here. He is to be one of the principal speakers at the annual Bible conference at Bible School Park, N. Y., which begins Thursday. Tonight and Thursday night at 7:30 Rev. F. C. Imhoff, superintendent of a Cleveland mission, is to be guest speaker at the tabernacle, and on Friday night, A. G. Fields of Detroit, Mich., deputation secretary of the Shantymen's Christian Association.

Firemen Inspect Business Premises

Paper And Rubbish Ordered
Cleaned Up In Many Downtown Establishments

City firemen are continuing their inspections of the premises of many downtown business establishments. Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain stated this morning, and where fire hazards are encountered, the proprietors are ordered to clean up the premises.

A great many cases have been found where paper and rubbish has been allowed to accumulate, particularly paper. Store owners bale the paper and keep it on the premises until someone comes to haul it away. This is against a city ordinance, the chief stated, and where encountered, the store owners are ordered to remove the paper from the building.

HOPE GONE FOR MISSING SHIP

Ship Captain Reports Having Sighted Oil Drums Floating
On Water

(International News Service)

TAMPA, Fla., July 22.—Fears for the safety of the British motor vessel Nunoca, carrying 13 passengers and a crew of nine, were increased here today when Capt. H. Wheeler of the Honduran ship Angier, reported sighting 12 galvanized iron drums floating on the water near the coast of Dry Tortugas, near Key West.

The drums were sighted on July 13th, but were not reported until today.

The 110-foot motor vessel Nunoca sailed from Georgetown, Grand Cayman Island, on July 4 and immediately dropped from sight. It was due to arrive here July 7. A widespread search by sea and air has been carried on for several days, but today's report by Capt. Wheeler was the first hint of what might have been the fate of the ship.

Drums Sighted
Capt. Wheeler said he saw the drums floating on the water and called his mate, McPherson Miller. Together they counted 12 drums, similar to the type used as oil containers.

There was no means of identifying them as having been washed off the decks of a vessel, however.

Capt. Wheeler arrived in Tampa several days ago, but said he had forgotten seeing the drums until he received instructions today on his return to Belize, B. H., to keep close watch for the Nunoca.

Trip Around World Is Ruffles' Goal

Local "One Eye" Connelly Is Preparing To Leave For Long Voyage

With a trip around the world as his goal, Ruffles Johns, 1126 Scioto street, former New Castle high grader, who is constantly gaining the sobriquet of the famous "One Eye" Connelly, noted gate crasher to all leading events in the country, is prepared to leave for New York where he hopes to board a steamer for Germany, the first leg of his proposed journey.

Johns, who already has crashed his way into the leading sports event held during the past few years in an excited tone, but with much confidence, told a New Castle New man of his plans. His trip will last approximately four or more years, he said.

"I shall return to New Castle when I complete my trip," he ejaculated.

"And if you don't complete the trip—then what?" the writer asked.

"I won't come back here. But I can't miss. I haven't yet and never will," he said.

He has already prepared his suitcases and other necessities for the trip. He said he may go to Washington, D. C. first. There he will take out a passport and leave immediately for Europe. While in Germany he contemplates witnessing the Olympics and then continuing on to other countries.

In conclusion he said, "You can tell everyone that 'One Eye' will not fail." He then showed the writer his scrap book in which he is seen posing with a number of the leading sports personalities in the country.

Need More Girls For Training

With eight girls of the WPA home training course placed in jobs, there is room for another group of girls in the training course. Mrs. Josephine Treser announced today. The girls are given an eight weeks course in home duties which includes all the various sorts of work they would be expected to do in domestic service. No salary is paid while the girls are in training but they are given $1 per week for car fare and their noon meal. Girls who are interested can apply at the offices of the WPA in the old post office building Thursday or Friday between ten and four o'clock.

West Pittsburgh Trips Firemen

Even Up Series With Firemen By Score Of 7 To 5 At West Pittsburgh

HILL-TONSETIC STAR ON MOUND

West Pittsburgh late of the Lawrence County league came to life last night in the early innings and pounded out a 7 to 5 victory over the Sixth Ward Firemen of New Castle to even the series between these two fine teams to one apiece. "Dutch" Hill held the Firemen hitless and runless, for the first four innings.

The West Pittsburghians had 12 hits off of Willie Sheik and Dick Witherow. John Markey and Jack Demanaco led the hitting with doubles, while J. Elisser had three hits as did Demanaco. For the Firemen the hitting of R. Coulter featured.

Tonsetic went to the rescue of Hill in the seventh and allowed one run after Hill had filled the bases with no outs. Hill fanned five of the Fire-eaters and Tonsetic fanned one.

The game was one of the best of the year at the West Pittsburgh field and drew a large crowd of fans. The third game of the series will be held tonight.

Colonial A. C. will have a practice session at the Colonial Field tonight at 6 o'clock it was announced. All players are asked to be present as this is quite an important session.

Jack Lewellyn had the "Indian sign" on the Tolan A. C. last night at the Liberty street field as the Mahoning A. C. topped the former city softball team 12 to 2. Lewellyn allowed only four hits. The Seventh Warders had 13 hits off of Rodgers, Carbone and Mingione had homers.

The Mahoning A. C. will play the Mt. Jackson team at the Mt. Jackson field tonight, Friday night the Mahonings will play Hillsville at home. For games with the Mahonings call 3328-M between 4 and 5:30 p. m. any day. The Mahonings would like to book a City Softball league team for a game Sunday at the Seventh Ward field. The business manager of the team is F. Rozzi.

Pearson A. C. took a forfeit from the Friendship Stars when the latter failed to show up for a scheduled game at the B. & O. field. The Pearsons would like to play the Matlands, Rose Midgets and Division street All-Stars. See Tommy Morella for games with the Pearsons. The Pearson All-Stars handed the Pearson A. C. a 22 to 19 setback yesterday.

Lawrence Indies baseball team will play the New Bedford, Pa. sluggers tonight at the Cedar street field at 5:45 o'clock, it was announced by Manager "Boss" Zidow. Zidow also announced his intention to use his mound ace, "Pat" Majocha, on the hill against the New Bedfordians.

THIRD TIME IS CHARM — at least Frank Wykoff and Lee Bartlett hope so.

In 1928 and 1932, wearing Uncle Sam's red, white and blue, Frank and Lee faced foreign competition in the Olympic games and failed to win.

Now, in the Berlin Olympiad they get their third and, probably, last chance. Wykoff, a runner, at least should be too old for top competition by 1940.

Aside from Wykoff and Bartlett, a javelin thrower, the American squad boasts two other members, girls, who saw service in Uncle Sam's colors in 1928 and 1932.

They are Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett, backstroke swimmer, and Mrs. Dorothy Poynton Hill, diving ace.

THE CASE of Wykoff merits most attention. When sprinters like Jesse Owens, Foy Draper and other top-notch men of today were wearing short pants, Frank was burning up "American" and "foreign" tracks as "the world's fastest human."

Frank was a member of both the 1928 and 1932 Olympic teams. He didn't win a championship in either. And today, after four years of almost no activity, he is in Berlin ready to try again.

The other three-time member of the track and field squad, Lee Bartlett, of Detroit, likewise failed to come through at Amsterdam in 1928 and at Los Angeles in 1932, but today he stands as the ace javelin thrower of the U. S. group.

THE TWO three-time feminine members of the Olympic squad, Eleanor Holm Jarrett and Dorothy Poynton Hill, backstroke and diver, respectively, stand an excellent chance of coming through with wins for the United States. Mrs. Jarrett, wife of the movie singer, Arthur Jarrett, set an Olympic record in 1932 in the 100-meter backstroke event. Mrs. Hill, high diving champion in 1932 events, qualified for both the three-meter springboard and the platform dive this year. They did not win in 1928.

There are quite a few other members of the 1936 squad who were on the 1932 Olympic team and today stand ready again to contest in the international games for the United States. However, everyone of the two-time members of the team will be seeking his or her first Olympic title in Berlin, having failed to come through with wins in 1932.

In track events we have Glenn Cunningham, 1,500 meters; Ralph Metcalfe, sprints; Chuck Hoyt, 800 meters; Eino Pentti, 10,000 meters; Glenn Hardin, hurdles, and Joe McCluskey and Glen Dawson, steeplechase—all 1932 veterans. For the field events there are Cornelius Johnson, high jump; Bill Graber, pole vault; Malcolm Metcalf, javelin; and Roland Romero, hop, step and jump—all having been in the Los Angeles Olympiad.

The men's swimming team has these 1932 Olympians on the 1936 squad: Ralph Flanagan, 400-meter and 1,500-meter free style; Jack Medina, same events; James Christy, 1,500-meter free style; Jimmy Gillett, 300-meter free style and relay; and Frank Kurtz and Dick Degener, divers.

The women's swimmers making their second try are Katherine Rawls, three-meter springboard diving; Dorothea Dickinson, 100-meter free style; Mrs. Lenore Knight Wiggard, 400-meter free style, and Ann Govednix, 200-meter breaststroke.

Bessemer Plays Here Tonight

Game At Hillsville Ends In Sixth Inning Following Dispute

Bessemer will play the Tin Mill at the Rosena Furnace Field tonight instead of Wampum, it was announced by James Martin, secretary of the Lawrence County league. The game will start at 6 o'clock.

The game at Hillsville last night between Hillsville and Wampum ended in a dispute in the sixth inning with the Hillsville team leading at the time 5 to 2, according to Martin. The dispute occurred over a decision by an umpire.

John Henry Lewis and Al Gainer, light-heavyweight champion and challenger, are continuing their training for their match one week from Thursday night at Hillsville. They are scheduled to go 10 rounds.

Lewis is a good fighter. Gainer is rated as one of the best hitters in the 175 pound division. Jack Johnson will second Gainer and Jack Blackburn will advise Lewis. The match originally was scheduled for tomorrow night but was postponed a week.

Vin Sites of Pittston, Pa., has signed to play professional football with the Pittsburgh Pirates this fall. Sites stands six feet two inches and weighs 220 pounds. Sites played a regular wing position for the Panthers last fall.

Tangle Occurs Over Signing Of Maxie And Jim

New York State Boxing
Commission Gets In Swell
Jumble With Jacobs

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports
Editor

NEW YORK, July 22.—It would take a Solomon wiser than the ancient monarch who managed 900 wives to unravel the current heavy-weight championship tangle—and there are no Solomons on the New York State Boxing Commission.

Therefore, the whole mess seems sure to wind up in the courts.

The commission's action yesterday in accepting from Mike Jacobs, promoter of the 20th Century club, on behalf of Max Schmeling, a check for $5,000 to bind a match with Champion Jim Braddock, served only to further entangle the threads of discord.

The action of Braddock's manager, Joe Gould, in accepting the commission's check to post a forfeit of like amount and to okay the match by August 5 did nothing to unravel the threads the whole thing hinges on the mysterious contract Madison Square Garden holds with Braddock. Were it not for this un-revealed document Jacobs would have both fighters signed and a date for the match set in ten minutes.

The commission says it will recognize nobody as challenger but Schmeling. The commission also says it will recognize only a commission form of contract.

Joker In Deck
Now here's the joker in the situation: The Garden undoubtedly has—as it claims—a private contract with Braddock, but the commission refuses to recognize such contracts. The question is, will the courts recognize such a contract? The whole structure of boxing may depend on the answer.

It's been the custom for the Garden to sign a commission contract which stipulates the champion shall receive 37½ per cent of the net receipts of the fight. But the champion usually has had a private contract calling for 42½ per cent or even more on occasion and the champion always was paid off on this secret contract.

(International News Service)

FARMINGDALE, N. Y., July 22.—A rough and ready 200 pound six foot cop from San Francisco and a slim delicate kid of 23 who clerks in a Washington, D. C. haberdashery, were tied for the qualifying medal in the national public links title tournament today, thus proving that golf is no respecter of muscle.

The cop is Jim Molinari, the haberdasher's clerk, Claude Rippey.

Molinari, runner-up in the Northern California amateur championship last year, added a 72 to the 73 he made on the par 70 Bethpage course Monday, bringing his total to 145, while Rippey clipped 5 strokes off the 73 he carded on Monday.

U. S. Olympic Party Is Nearing Germany

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports

ABOARD S. S. MANHATTAN, July 22.—The anti-Berlin movement that has caused disruption in Olympic ranks for more than a year was mysteriously renewed today on the eve of the American team's arrival in Germany.

Pamphlets protesting against America's participation under the swastika are being left in the athletes' quarters, presumably by someone traveling tourist, as the propaganda is left late at night when cabin class is separated from the tourists.

The ship's personnel, however, has not been asked to keep watch for the anti-Berlin and inquiry indicated that the entire incident is being pointedly ignored by all hands.

After halts at Cobi, Ireland, and Plymouth, England, yesterday, and at Havre, France, today all of which interfered with practice everyone is now occupied with plans for the arrival at Hamburg late tomorrow and departure early Friday. The party will rush to Berlin for its first land workout Saturday afternoon following the German reception at Hamburg.

Chief Coach Lawson Robertson found it necessary today to warn the athletes to take their limbering easy. "They are anxious and eager to run," he said, "and may do themselves more harm than good unless they are restrained."

Church Softball

MAHONING M. E. WINS

The Mahoning M. E. church softball team led by "Cy" Boyd handed the third U. P. team a surprise package upset last night at the B. and O. Field 14 to 9. Wilson was on the knoll for the Seventh Warders and although found for 12 hits kept them scattered. The Mahonings had seven hits off of McKickle. L. Tanner and McKibben had extra-base blows.

"I am, but I'm going to sell the fill fillings."

Don Lash of Indiana and other distance runners, for instance, are impatient and need work-outs badly. Lash is endlessly walking around the decks, and the same is true of Glenn Cunningham and Archie San Roman. Jesse Owens continues to recover from his cold, and is working every day. Coaches told Frank Wykoff to "tuck in his chin" at the finish of a sprint, for his head is otherwise too high.

Sam Francis is working with the shot nicely, and Larry Snyder says that Jack Torrance accomplished his 54-foot throw just before sailing because his distance had previously been held down by mistiming of his left foot.

Wedding trials revealed Francis Millard at top form as he threw Fred Parkey. Roy Dunn's victory over Howell Scooby came as a surprise, as previously they had appeared to be about even. Trials, based on the best two-out-of-three, continued today.

In spite of all the clutter on decks at sports, the boxing team is going through shadow workouts every day, with Bantamweight Johnny Brown looming as one of the brightest hopes. Helen Stephens, woman sprinter, collided with a bystander yesterday, but was not hurt.

"This is the best Olympic squad I have ever handled," C. W. Streit proudly proclaimed today—and Streit has guided four.

The committee has approved two more post-Olympic trips, sending teams of half a dozen tracksters each to Czechoslovakia and Sweden.

Cunninghams Top Strollers, 22-11

The Cunningham A. C. topped the Strollers 22 to 11 last night in a Class B League game, at Gaston Park Field. The game was a free-throwing affair.

Recznick did the hurling for the Cunningham and held the Strollers to nine hits. The winners had 19 hits off of Smith.

Bottomley To Finish Season

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, July 22.—"Sunny Jim" Bottomley, veteran first baseman of the St. Louis Browns, and for fifteen years one of major league baseball's best known figures, will finish out the season with his team.

Bottomley made his decision following an examination by Dr. Robt. Hyland, the club physician, which revealed that an attack of arthritis Bottomley suffered recently is not as serious as had been feared.

Golfer, Aged 70, Gets Hole-In-One

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 22.—Joe Edwards, 70-year-old veteran of the Nemacolin Country Club today told admiring friends that it was worth waiting all these years for his first hole-in-one.

Using a No. 4 wood, Edwards teed off on No. 9, a par-three, 157-yard hole. The ball hit a knob on a sand trap, bounced on the green and trickled into the cup. He was playing with C. R. Williams of Monaca and R. C. Smouse of Newell.

Medwick Ties League Record

But Giants Take Cardinals
For 2 To 1 Ride With Hubbell Up

PIRATES-INDIANS
PICK UP VICTORIES

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, July 22.—The St. Louis Cardinals held a monopoly on clowning and color in the National league; they have just about the best pitcher in baseball in the affable Mr. Dizzy Dean, and they may win the pennant, but on top of all that one of their number may also wind up with the batting championship.

Ducky Wucky Medwick today was more than 10 points ahead of Paul Waner of the Pirates and until Waner does something about the matter it no longer is a race.

While Waner was going hitless yesterday in five attempts against the Phillies, Medwick was harvesting himself a pair of singles and a double before Carl Hubbell of the Giants finally stopped him, the result being that Medwick boosted his average to an unofficial .370, meanwhile tying a record.

Equals Record.
When he picked Hubbell for that final single it was his 10th straight safe hit, equalling the league record and only one behind the all-time mark for both majors set in 1920 by Tris Speaker.

From the Cardinals' standpoint that was the only feature of the game worth remembering. The outcome was something less than satisfactory. Dean losing in the 10th inning on a home run by Dick Bartell. The score was 2 to 1, and all of the runs were made on homers, Mancuso slapping one earlier for the Giants and Pepper Martin forcing the game into the extra inning with one for the Cards.

Moreover, the defeat cost the Cards some valuable ground in the pennant race. Chicago stretched its margin to two games by struggling to a 5 to 3 victory over Brooklyn, whose Brandt and Baker allowed only six hits, but couldn't win anyway.

Pirates Thump Phillies.

Lloyd Waner and Jensen hit home runs and the Pirates took the Phils by 17 to 6, making 21 hits and four errors.

Frederick and Cantwell locked up in a hurling duel, each allowed only six hits, and each club scored a run in the ninth, but the former took the decision for Cincinnati over Boston, 3 to 2.

The Yankees' American league lead was slashed by a game to eight games over the Indians, when the New Yorkers started their western wanderings by losing to the Browns, 5 to 4, against aging Al Thomas' six-hit pitching. Johnny Broaca went the route, but was wobbly. George Selkirk contributed the Yanks' daily homer.

Indians Top Sox.
The Indians meanwhile whipped the Red Sox, 6 to 5, with Hal Trosky hitting his 25th homer to help drive Lefty Grove to the showers in the fifth.

The defeat dropped the Sox into fourth place and Detroit moved up into third place by stopping the Athletics twice, 8 to 0 on Bridges' hurling and 9 to 8 on Gerald Walker's base running.

In the nightcap, Walker scored all the way from second behind Goslin, on an infield double play ball. Washington completed its slate with a 6 to 5 win over Chicago.

Blackburn Stars Training Of Lewis

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Jack Blackburn, claimed to be the man responsible for the development and sensational rise of Joe Louis, today took over active charge of John Henry Lewis, light heavyweight champion, and training preparations for his fight here July 30 with Al Gainer.

Rated among the smartest trainers and conditioners of fighters in the world, Blackburn is reported to be getting $1,500 for his work with the champion.

LAUDS LATE OPENING OF HUNTING SEASON

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 22.—In behalf of the farmers of Pennsylvania, J. Hansell French, Secretary of Agriculture, today expressed appreciation of the ruling of the State Board of Game Commissioners delaying the opening of the first day of the small game and trapping seasons until 9 a. m.

"This ruling," Secretary French explained, "will eliminate another of the hazards of the first day of hunting. By 9 o'clock rural school children will be off the highways and out of the fields and farmers and farm laborers will have had their morning chores completed and be in from the fields."

Beaver County Firemen To Hold Convention Here

Ellwood City Fire Department To Be Hosts At Three Day Convention

FULL PROGRAM TO BE CARRIED OUT

ELLWOOD CITY, July 22.—Ellwood City Fire Department has completed all arrangements to entertain the Beaver County Firemen's Association at their third annual convention to be held here Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The affair begins tomorrow at 7 p. m. (D. S. T.).

A well mapped out three day program has been arranged which includes a business conference, competitive drills and contests, sports, and an entertainment. Burgess Russell T. Sider, city officials, and Russell J. (Denny) Schill, Ellwood City coach, will pay prominent roles in the three day convention. The former will welcome the firemen in behalf of the people of Ellwood City. Beaver county officials as well as firemen officials will speak.

The feature of Saturday's program will be the laying of the cornerstone for the new municipal building on Sixth street and Lawrence avenue, in which the firemen will play an important part. This ceremony will take place at two o'clock and will be followed by a mammoth parade at three.

For the firemen's program Coach Schill will act as announcer, time keeper and referee. The program for Thursday is announced as follows:

Ladder drill and life saving demonstration and run against time—Monaca volunteer fire department. Hose and pumper demonstration—Rochester volunteer fire department.

8:30 p. m. D. S. T.—Business session. Hall fire station.

Meeting called to order—A. W. Richards, president Ellwood City Volunteer Fire Co.

Invocation—Rev. F. Y. Dauben-speak, pastor, Trinity Lutheran church.

Selection—Quartette.

Market Drifts Irregularly
Lower After Fairly
Strong Opening
Today

By LESLIE GOULD

NEW YORK, July 22.—The stock market drifted irregularly lower today after a continuation of the advance in initial trading.

Losses, though were generally of minor proportions.

Profit taking continued until the majority of issues were under previous closing prices. Support came around noon and some recovery from the lows was effected.

A number of new highs for the year were chalked up at the start including Air Reduction, DuPont, General Electric, Chrysler, Pullman, Public Service and Coca Cola.

Motors and utilities were relatively steady, buoyancy in Chrysler spurring the former group. This speculative favorite crossed 120 for an overnight gain of about a point.

Rails and steel shares were mostly easier. American Telephone and Westinghouse in the "blue chips" lost about a point each. Commonwealth Southern was turned over in heavy volume after opening on a block of 37,200 shares.

Wheat lost a cent a bushel. Cotton was steady. Bonds were mixed, with governments slightly improved.

AMERICAN NEWSPAPER
MAN LANDS BEHIND

headquarters of the northern army and met the reputed next premier of military Spain—Brigadier-General Emilio Mola.

And there amidst a whole population giving the Fascist salute in streets jammed with armed civilians marching arm in arm with the regular army and monarchist troops, we obtained a startling and different picture of prospects of the Spanish rebellion from that which the outside world has so far received.

General Mola officially informed us: "We have Navarre, the Asturias, Castile, Galicia, Leon, Aragon and Andalusia; in one word, all the garisons of Spain are against the Marxist front."

This does not sound as though the "back of the revolt has been broken" as continental newspapers headline today, and if information at northern rebel headquarters here is correct, there is support for the army's assertion that their revolution is winning.

Claim Most Of Spain.

According to this information the rebels, who rebelled when the monarchist hero Jose Calvo Sotelo was murdered, as they assert, "by order of the government and by government assassins," have now in their hands "all of Spain except Madrid, Bilbao and Barcelona."

The redoubtable General Francisco Franco, who opened the revolt in Morocco, is now, according to Burgos information, in the province of Toledo at the gates of Madrid, while upon the capital are converging besides Franco's columns, from the south, three motorized columns from the north.

The first column from Burgos is already nearing Somosierra. The second column from Valladolid, under command of General Ponte and the Marquess Boveda De Limia, has reached the mountain range of Guadarrama.

The third column, from Pamplona, composed largely of monarchists, has reached Soria.

All three columns, it is asserted, are making swift progress under general direction of Mola.

This dignified gray-haired, scholarly general, who was director of public safety under the last monarchist government and who upon outbreak of the revolt was commander of the Pamplona garrison, is now declared to be leading candidate for the premiership since the death of General Sanjurjo, who crossed in an airplane from exile in Portugal to join the army in Spain.

Hundreds Greet General.

We sat in the crowd in front of the old city hall and watched Fascist youths salute and cheer General Mola on the balcony. Afterwards we waited while hundreds of citizens filed past to clasp his hand.

"The murder of Calvo Sotelo was the death of the government," exclaimed Mola as he turned to us. "You must think from this demonstration how the whole country is behind us. It is a rising of the people against the red demigod. Only the deluded are resisting the rebirth of Spain."

Particularly heavy fighting continued in Barcelona, where according to information here it is untrue that government forces are victorious.

In Bilbao, the rebels assert, Colonel Ortiz De Zarate is leading an army against the Marxists. Seville, they declare, is in the hands of the army although Madrid forces still retain a foothold in that city and shooting continues.

Capture Generals.

San Sebastian, over which we flew today, fell into the hands of army rebels. Jubilantly two Burgos announced that the four principal generals who failed to go with the army against the government have been captured.

Two of the generals, Batet and Mena, are in jail here, while the famous General Nunez De Prado was captured in Saragossa and General Gomez Caminero was caught on the Portuguese frontier.

Burgos, in constant radio communication with other rebel centers announces that the Madrid high commissioner in Morocco, Alvarez Builla, has been shot.

Keenest experience of this exciting day for Burgos was capture of a government airplane. It was with nervous gratitude for our own escape that we learned that only two hours before our landing on the Burgos air field, a government bombing airplane had been potted down and riddled with machine-gun fire. It had appeared over Burgos in an attempt to bomb Mola as he entered the city.

Circle Over Field.

Two rebel army pursuit planes which accomplished this feat remained quiet as we circled over the field, ignorant of what troops were in control and entirely uncertain of our reception.

Until we were actually over Burgos, the country beneath us all the way from Biarritz was utterly without life.

In sharp contrast with the brilliant movement on the beach at Biarritz, the beach of Spanish San Sebastian was entirely deserted. Below, the railroad swept for scores of miles without sign of a train. Twice we flew over stretches of torn-up rails. Three times we passed over great railway yards filled with dead locomotives and motionless freight cars.

Smokeless factory chimneys gave evidence of the bitter steadfastness of the strikers. It is difficult, however, to reconcile Spain's general strike of workers against the army rebels with the fact that this city full of armed common people is on the army side.

Young girls joined Fascist youths in stopping automobiles, while truck loads of men in civilian clothing and carrying carbines rush up and down the streets. Hotel lobbies are crammed with armed men surrounded by their admirers—frequently beautiful señoritas.

Prepare For King's Return.

Now in our hotel is Antonio Golcochea, former King Alfonso's faithful representative in Spain. Golcochea told International News Service: "Events are preparing for return of his majesty."

We attempted to file this telegram from Burgos but all wires were cut. With Captain McIntosh at the stick we flew back to file the message from Biarritz.

Enroute we met a military pursuit plane and prudently fled above the clouds. Coming down over San Sebastian we saw that city of summer sport and mirth turned into a graveyard, silent and deserted in the panic and fear of civil war.

Tonight we fly back to the northern army to march with them to Madrid.

WHAT'S A PICNIC IS PUZZLING OFFICIALS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—The question of what constitutes a picnic proved a problem to Cheltenham township police after the township commissioners decided to assess parties $1 if they wanted to frolic in that community.

Some thought a picnic—not defined in the new ordinance—would constitute a group of three or more persons who came and brought their lunches for a day out of doors, but Harold Pike, commission secretary ruled the law meant large groups of strangers who bring their own orchestras and bars and make nuisances of themselves.

The ordinance will permit police to refuse picnic licenses to objectionable gatherings.

SEAPLANE SERVICE TO LINK AMERICA AND ENGLAND

Regular transatlantic air travel in speedy seaplanes, prior to the end of the summer, looms as a possibility following confirmation of reports at Washington that Imperial Airways of Great Britain and Pan-American Airways of the United States had agreed to establish such a service.

A map of the proposed routes and a picture of one of the British flying boats, already completed at Rochester, England, are shown above.

The British concern plans to use the type of seaplane shown here while Pan-American contemplates using a fleet similar to the clipper ships now employed in transatlantic service.

The shorter northern route, which probably will be used during the summer, will take passengers via Canada, Newfoundland and the Irish Free State to England. During the winter, the flying boats are expected to travel to England by way of Bermuda. Permission to establish an American terminal has already been granted by the U. S. department of commerce. Cities being considered as a base are Baltimore, Md.; Cape Charles or Norfolk, Va.; Charleston, S. C., and New York City with the latter favored as the northern-route base.

NEW SPRAY TO CHECK EPIDEMIC?

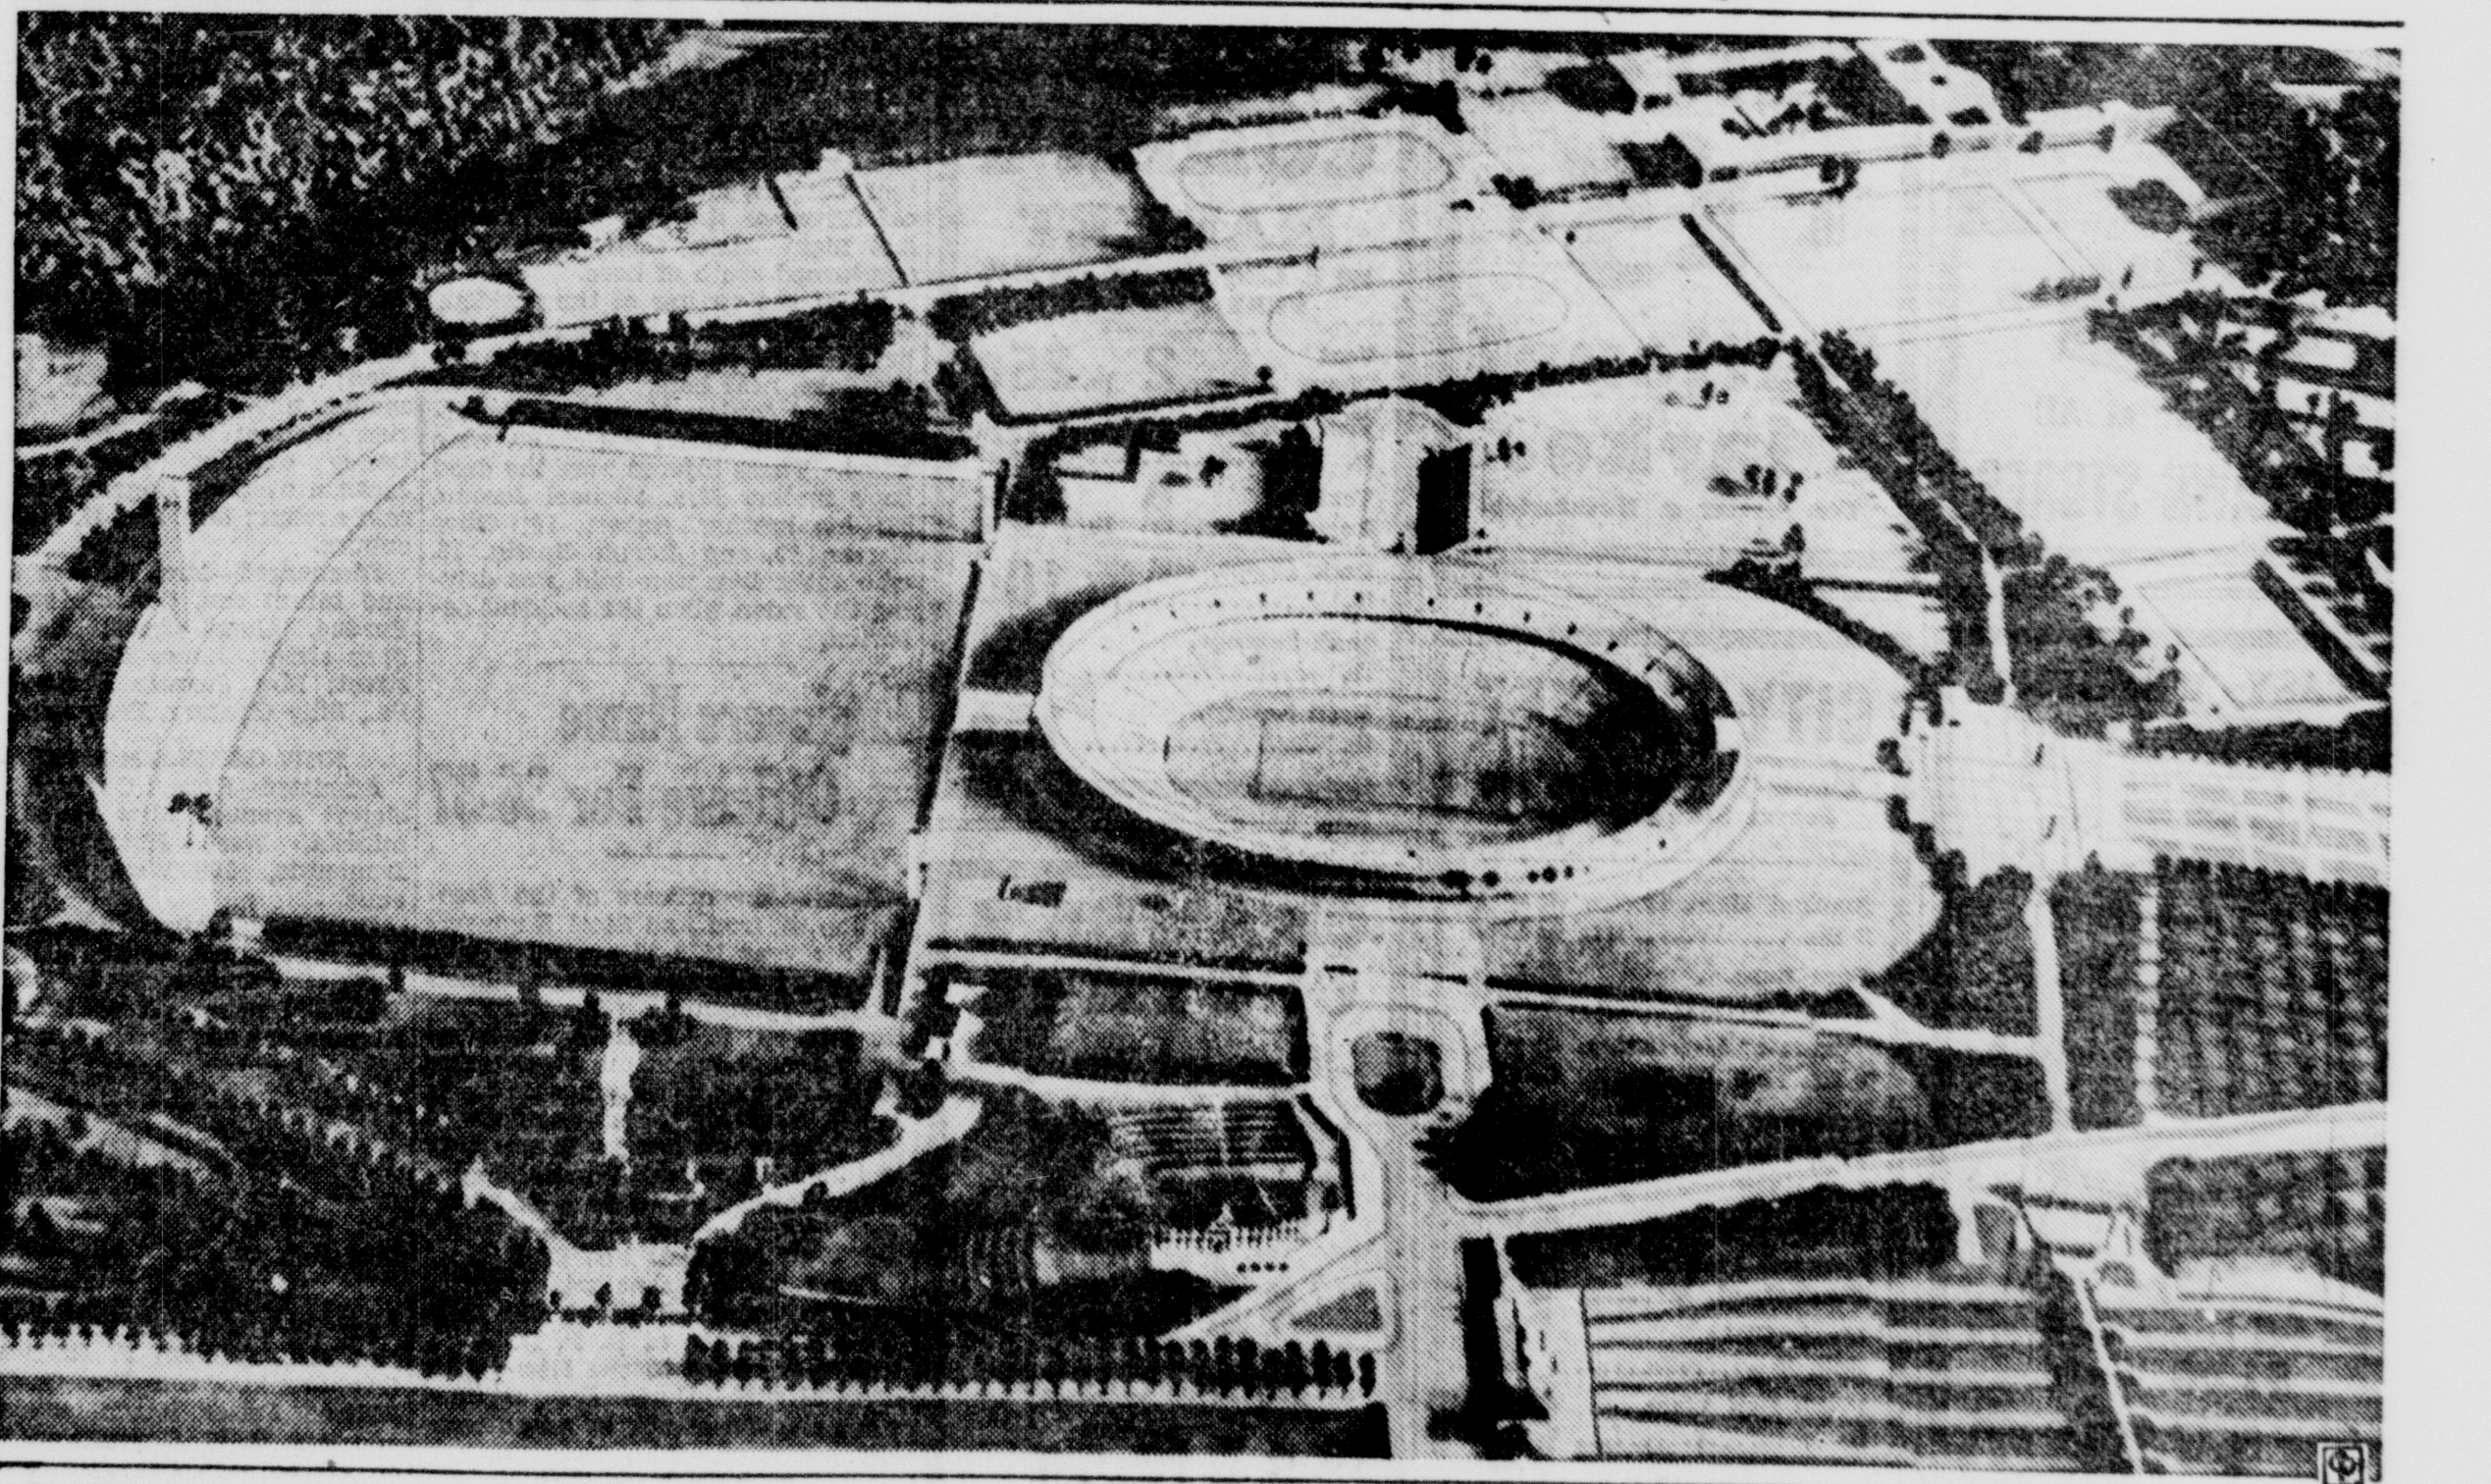

M. G. Mullendore, druggist, looks at spray in window; Dr. Charles Armstrong, of the U. S. public health service, inset, is directing tests.

In an effort to check the spread of infantile paralysis in Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi, drug stores in Alabama are distributing a new solution, discovered by the U. S. department of health and used as a nose spray. Dr. Charles Armstrong, inset, of the U. S. department of health, who risked his life in experimenting on a cure for "parrot fever" is one of the discoverers. He has been in the south supervising the present tests. This is the first time the spray is being used on human beings. Tests previously had been made on animals.

Above, a druggist M. G. Mullendore is looking at a window display advertising the new spray.

Where Millions Will Behold Spectacle of Olympic Games in Berlin

The Olympic scene in Berlin, with the main stadium and other fields where the games will be held in August, is pictured above. The center bowl is the Olympic stadium, where track and field events will be staged. On the opposite side is the swimming stadium. The large space to the left is the assembly field, serving also as the polo grounds. More than 500,000 spectators can sit comfortably in the huge arena which will serve as a permanent athletic center in the future.

Mother-In-Law Forgives Erie Man For Slayings

(International News Service)
ERIE, Pa., July 22.—Accused of the vicious hammer slaying of his wife and two children, Samuel C. Weed, 40-year-old Sunday school teacher, received forgiveness today from his mother-in-law, Mrs. Alice Chapin.

"I forgive Sam," the sorrow-stricken woman sobbed as her daughter, Irene, and the slain woman's children, David, 4, and Charles, 3, were lowered into their graves. "I will be charitable with him," she added.

While Weed lay on a hospital cot in a straitjacket mumbled about a "scarlet sin," the quiet services were conducted in a local funeral home with only friends and relatives attending.

Mrs. Chapin expressed a desire to do all she could to help the prisoner against whom three murder charges have been filed. She said: "I will go to the hospital to see Sam. He will need some one to help him."

Questioned concerning the "scarlet sin" to which Weed constantly alludes, Mrs. Chapin said: "There is no other woman in his life. I know his past life. If my daughter were alive and able to talk, she would forgive Sam for what he has done."

It wasn't Sam who actually killed them. They were on a constant honeymoon, despite the fact they had been married eight years. "The law eventually will take its course. But I still believe in him. He was an adorable husband and a marvelous son-in-law."

Meanwhile, it was learned, Weed will be given a chance to plead guilty but the state will demand he die.

Enon Reunion Calls Former Church Class Together Once More

A happy reunion held recently in the Enon Presbyterian church at Enon Valley brought together once more the ladies of a Bible class once taught by W. W. McMillan when he resided on a farm near the town.

The former Bible class members and Mr. and Mrs. McMillan were welcomed back Sunday by the present men's and women's Bible classes of the church.

At the Sunday school hour Mr. McMillan taught the united classes and afterward the group joined the membership of the church for the observance of communion.

When the service was concluded the adult classes and visitors went directly to the community hall to be served lunch and to enjoy continued fellowship.

Mrs. Carrie Riddle assisted by Mrs. George Andrews and Mrs. R. J. Nesbit and Mrs. George Braden were in charge of the lunch. Each were former members of the McMillan class. Ten others of the former members were also present.

The visitors included Mr. and Mrs. Brownlee, Pittsburgh; Miss Lizzie McKean, Wilkesburg; Mrs. Clara Young, New Castle, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCown of East Palestine, O.

Informal talks featured the noon session and letters from Mrs. Charles Douglas, a California resident, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Sittler, Colorado residents, were read.

The group adjourned with the song, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Husband Joins Wife In Death As Accident Result

MEADVILLE, Pa., July 22.—A double funeral will be held Thursday for Edgar Roubush, 46, and his wife, Mrs. Florence Roubush, 50, of Blooming Valley, Pa.

They lost their lives, along with Miss Rose Marie Geary, 21, of Pittsburgh, in an automobile collision.

Roubush died Tuesday, a few hours before the time set for his wife's funeral. It was delayed so they might be buried together. The accident occurred Saturday.

Three other passengers in one of the cars were recovering at a Meadville hospital. They are Ben Neuman, Jacob Rosenberg and Hilda Zerkstein, all of Pittsburgh.

Youngstown Boy Killed By Truck

YOUNGSTOWN, July 22.—Gian Francesco, 14, who, three weeks ago, obtained his first job as a telegraph messenger, was killed here last night after his bicycle slid beneath the wheels of a truck trailer.

The vehicle was driven by a Barberton man, who was not held.

Witnesses told police Francesco was "hooking a ride" by hanging on the right-hand side of the trailer, that his bicycle struck a parked automobile and skidded beneath the trailer's rear wheels.

Oliver J. Herbert Dies At Wellsburg

Was Son Of Late Harry Herbert, Sr., Who Operated Old Greer Tin Mill

Funeral services for Oliver J. Herbert, 48 years, prominent Wellsburg man and a former resident of this city, were conducted last week at his home, with the Rev. H. L. Wiggins, pastor of the Christian church, officiating. Mr. Herbert was a 32nd degree Mason and was accorded full Masonic honors at the grave in Brookside cemetery by the Wellsburg lodge.

Mr. Herbert died at his residence as the result of a heart attack suffered three weeks earlier.

He was born at Leechburg, Pa., April 13, 1888, came to New Castle as a boy and attended the old school on Pearson street. While living in this city he and his family were members of, and in regular attendance at, the First Baptist church.

Mr. Herbert's father was Harry Herbert, Sr., who built and operated the old Greer tin mills in 1893-94, and who changed the old Johnson sheet mills to tin and operated them in 1897, '98 and '99.

He himself was a sheet mill worker and was connected with various companies, including the Follansbee Brothers concern in West Virginia, in past years. He was a member of the Wellsburg Christian church.

Surviving are his wife, Gertrude Lazear Herbert; a son, Victor James Herbert; three sisters, Rose and Gladys Herbert, and Mrs. Marie Lewis; and a brother, Harry Herbert, all of West Virginia.

Old Timer's Day At Grove City

GROVE CITY, July 22.—With early arrivals indicating a record-breaking crowd, the seventh annual Old Timers' picnic was scheduled this evening in Memorial Park for present and former residents. The attendance record of 700 was expected to be passed by the dinner hour. A register of all guests is being kept by Mrs. Cora Houk.

A basket picnic at 6 p. m., with guests assigned to the group of their choice, is the principal feature. Following the usual custom, no program is held, other than an invocation, and the reading of messages from old-timers now living at a distance, to be held at the dinner hour.

HAND IS CUT ON AUTO HEADLIGHT

Sam Davies of Walpole came to the Jameson Memorial hospital at 9:30 last evening, suffering with a severe laceration of the right hand, which he received while adjusting the headlights of a car at a gasoline station on West Washington street.

The lens broke, making a jagged cut on his hand which required several stitches to close.

Organize Plans For Forum Here In Fall

Plans for New Castle's Community Forum during the coming fall and winter were informally discussed last night at an organization meeting of the forum's leaders in the basement auditorium at the Free Public library.

Here from Sharon to speak to the group was Leonard Stagailov, president of the Shenango Valley Community Forum which operates for Sharon and Farrell. He gave the local leaders suggestions for their forum operation.

Attorney James E. Chambers representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce, presided at the meeting. The junior chamber is to sponsor the forum discussions which will open in October.

On August 4 another meeting will be held to complete plans for the winter season.
